

SENTENCES VARYING ONE TO SEVEN YEARS PASSED ON DYNAMITERS TODAY

Frank M. I. cmfwyptacmfwyptWK FRANK M. RYAN GETS LONGEST TERM OF THIRTY-EIGHT PRISONERS WHILE HOCKIN AND TWEITMOE GET SIX YEARS.

SENTENCES HELD UP

Action Taken in Favor of a Number of Those Whose Confessions Aided the Government in Conviction.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, Dec. 30.—Sentences varying from seven years imprisonment in the federal prison at Leavenworth to one year and one day and to suspended sentences were today imposed upon the thirty-eight labor union officials convicted in the dynamite conspiracy cases.

Judge Anderson after the sentences read from the bench a statement in which he said: "The evidence shows some of these defendants to be guilty of murder, but as they are not charged here with that crime, this court cannot punish them for it."

Frank M. Ryan, president of the Iron Workers' International Union, was given a sentence of seven years. Olaf A. Tveitmo of San Francisco, convicted on charges of aiding in plotting the destruction of the Los Angeles "Times" building and Eugene A. Clancey also of San Francisco, were given six years each.

Herbert S. Hockin received six years.

All the prisoners who received prison terms were to be taken to Leavenworth, Kansas, probably tonight.

PLEA FOR MERCY

A remarkable scene in the struggle of the wives of the prisoners to reach their husbands attended the sentences. It was ordered that all spectators be cleared from the room and the prisoners be allowed to talk with the members of their families.

Some of the men made pleas for mercy. Others wept in the arms of their wives, but the court pronounced the sentences one by one regardless of the pleas.

Six men were given their liberty on suspended sentences. These included Edward Clark of Cincinnati, the dynamiter who confessed to blowing up a bridge with the help of Hockin. He had appeared as a witness for the government, another confessed dynamiter was not sentenced at this time.

In some cases sentences of one year and one day were imposed, so that these men might be confined in a federal prison. Prisoners with terms of less than one year are kept in county jails.

Talks With Prisoners.

Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson, had many of the prisoners whom he said he considered less guilty than the rest, brought before him to make statements.

For an hour and a half the judge thus in a conversational way talked with the prisoners asking them whether they believed in dynamiting as a method of promoting a strike. All the men professed innocence. "I hope I will strike me dead if I am a promoter of a strike," pleaded one prisoner, but he was interrupted by the court. Arrangements for taking the prisoners to Leavenworth on a special train have already been made.

All motions for new trials for the thirty-eight labor union officials convicted in the "dynamite conspiracy" cases today were overruled by Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson. Motions for arrest of judgment in behalf of all the men also were overruled.

As soon as court convened a few minutes after 10 a. m. district attorney Miller rose from his government asks for judgment on the verdicts.

he said:

"The court overrules motion. Chester H. Krum counsel for the prisoners then addressed the court. "We ask in behalf of all the thirty-eight men found guilty that the verdicts be set aside."

"That motion will be overruled," said the court.

The motion for arrest of judgment were likewise disposed of.

Sentences were imposed as follows:

Frank M. Ryan, president of the Iron Workers' union, seven years.

John T. Butler, Buffalo, vice-president, six years.

Herbert S. Hockin, former secretary and formerly of Detroit, six years.

Olaf A. Tveitmo, San Francisco, secretary of the California Building Trades Council, six years.

Eugene A. Clancey, San Francisco, six years.

Phillip A. Cooley, New Orleans, six years.

Michael J. Young, Boston, six years.

Frank J. Higgins, Boston, six years.

J. Munzey, Salt Lake City, six years.

John H. Barry, St. Louis, four years.

Paul J. Morrin, St. Louis, three years.

Henry W. Legleitner, Denver, three years.

Charles N. Beum, Minneapolis, three years.

Michael J. Cunnane, Philadelphia, three years.

Richard A. Houlihan, Chicago, two years.

W. M. Shupe, Chicago, one year and one day.

Edward Smith, Peoria, Ill., three years.

James E. Ray, Peoria, Ill., one year and one day.

Murray L. Pennell, Springfield, Ill., three years.

William C. Bernhardt, Cincinnati, one year and one day.

Willford Bert Brown, Kansas City, Mo., three years.

Frank Hay Painter, Omaha, two years.

Peter J. Smith, Cleveland, four years.

George Anderson, Cleveland, three years.

Michael J. Hannan, Scranton, Pa., three years.

Edward E. Phillips, Syracuse, N. Y., one year and one day.

Charles Wachtmeister, Detroit, one year and one day.

Ernest G. W. Basy, Indianapolis, three years.

Fred Sherman, Indianapolis, two years.

Suspended Sentences.

Sentences on the following were suspended: Patrick F. Farrell, New York; James Cooney, Chicago; James Coughlin, Chicago; Hiram R. Kline, Chicago, Ind.; Frank J. Murphy, Detroit. On motion of the government, Edward Clark, Cincinnati, confessed dynamiter who testified for the government was given a suspended sentence.

Frank C. Webb, New York, was given six years. Fred J. Mooney, Duluth, one year and one day. William J. McKane, Kansas City, three years. William E. Reddin, Milwaukee, three years.

PRaises WISCONSIN INCOME TAX MEASURE

Leaflet Sent Out From New York Argues Against Adoption of Federal Law.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 30.—Legislators and other citizens of the state are receiving copies of a weekly leaflet published in New York aimed against the proposed federal income tax, and suggesting that the state of Wisconsin rescind its approval of the federal income tax idea. The leaflet is published by Dwight Brannan, president and editor, 25 Broad street, and is devoted almost entirely to a discussion of the success of the Wisconsin state income tax law, and the reason why in his opinion Wisconsin should recall its approval.

"It is a vital duty everyone in Wisconsin owes to himself," says the author of the publication, "this tax, friends and neighbors, when he reads these lines and understands the situation, to take it up and rescind the adoption of the sixteenth amendment; the intelligence and education of the people demand it and let Wisconsin and Maine join her other thirteen sister states in protecting and holding fast to the state rights for the benefit of her present and future as a state, and her safe financial conduct, her development and continued prosperity."

The argument is made by Wisconsin ranks thirteenth of the states in the union in her wealth, real and personal. It continues: "If we take as an example a federal tax raised on apportionment, Wisconsin would rank twenty-second in the percentage of her tax per thousand. If the present rule of apportionment be abolished as the proposed sixteenth amendment declares, then the proportion of the tax to be made per thousand may increase to the people of Wisconsin, so her rate of taxation per thousand may be the greatest of any state."

"Every citizen in Wisconsin must understand this at once, and their representatives in the legislature should make it their first duty to explain the working of the sixteenth amendment to them, which was adopted before their own state income tax," this was alone, that the rule of apportionment must be insisted upon in all taxes, as has been the universal rule in all representative government, is enough to recall at once the acceptance of the sixteenth amendment by the legislature of Wisconsin, and is the first duty owed to her citizens, now made doubly so by the adoption of the state income tax raising a revenue of $3,550,000 this year for her own state needs."

MONTANA CITIES WANT HIGHER DEBT LIMITS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Bozeman, Mont., Dec. 30.—A movement to secure the repeal or modification of the state law limiting the bonded indebtedness of municipalities was launched here today at a conference of mayors of the leading cities of Montana. The claim is made that the limitation of the bonded indebtedness causes the cities to issue warrants upon which they are required to pay a much higher rate of interest.

TO SPEND A MILLION ON NEW YEAR REVEL

New York Will Make Roman Banquets Appear Tame Beside New Year's Eve Celebration.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Dec. 30.—In spite of efforts which have been made for a safe and sane New Year's eve celebration in this city, all indications point to the conclusion that the ushering out of 1912 and the welcoming of 1913 will surpass similar revels of the past and make a Roman festival seem tame by comparison. While 1912 has not been a satisfactory year from the point of view of the Wall Street brokers who are supposed to be the city's most liberal spenders, general business has been good and every indication of the plans for this year's carnival is that it will be more lavish than ever before and set a new record for spending along the Great White Way. Not less than $1,000,000 it is now estimated will be spent in this gilded mile in the few hours preceding midnight for food and drink and in spite of the efforts of those who are anxious to reform this celebration, the rattlers, tin horns and other racket producing implements will doubtless be more deafening than ever. Practically every table in the hotels and restaurants extending half a mile in either direction from Longacre Square have been reserved far in advance and in many cases hundreds of dollars have been offered by belated applicants for a chance to spend their money. A canvass of the combined capacity of these places of entertainment indicates that between 60,000 and 75,000 will be dining and winning within or near this gilded mile as 1913 dawns that they will have spent one million dollars and consumed something like 70,000 quarts of champagne, the bottles containing which would, if laid end to end, make a line seventeen miles long. As is the invariable custom, nothing but wine will be served on New Year's eve and naturally the condition is one calculated to bring joy to the hearts of hotel and restaurant keepers. Everything seems to indicate that New York will awaken on January first with a worse and more expensive New Year's headache than ever before.

SCHOOL AT DELAVAN MAY BE ABOLISHED

Propose to Discontinue Institution for Deaf as Local Schools Supply The Needs.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 30.—A plan to discontinue the Delavan state school for the deaf and to establish a normal school for the training of agricultural teachers in its place will be proposed in a bill to be introduced in the next session of the legislature. The deaf are now educated in twenty-three local schools in this state by the oral method, and the bill, it is said, will contemplate the use of these schools rather than a state institution.

Robert C. Spencer, a veteran Milwaukee educator, is back of the movement. In a bulletin issued he explains that the training of teachers for the deaf can well be accomplished by the addition of another department in the Milwaukee normal school. He believes the oral method of instruction should be continued.

TO ORGANIZE HOUSE WITH FEW CHANGES

Democratic Leaders Satisfied With Present Line-up With New Sergeant-at-Arms.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Dec. 30.—Democratic leaders are busily figuring on the organization of the house in the coming congress, but the only changes in the house officers expected is that of the sergeant-at-arms. It is thought that Charles S. Riddell, the present incumbent, will retire, and a fight for the office is one between Robert B. Gordon of Ohio, now superintendent of the house document room, and former Representative Ryan of Buffalo, N. Y., who was a candidate when the democrats took control of the 62d congress.

Judge Grimm will be at the court house on Monday, Jan. 6, at two p. m.

LEGISLATURE MUST SELECT GOVERNOR

Lawmakers of New Hampshire Face Puzzling Situation—Must Also Choose a Senator.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Concord, N. H., Dec. 30.—When the New Hampshire legislature assembles today after a two-day adjournment, lawmakers will face one of the most puzzling situations in the history of the state. As soon as they have organized for business they will be called upon to select a governor to succeed Governor Robert P. Bass, whose term is about to expire. In the November election none of the candidates for governor polled the majority vote as required under the constitution, and the choice of the governor therefore devolves upon the legislature. In addition to selecting a governor the legislature will name a United States senator to succeed Senator Durham, whose term will end next March.

Whether Democrats or Republicans will be selected for the two high offices to be filled by the legislature is a matter that cannot be foretold with certainty. The legislature is apparently Republican by a narrow margin. The Progressives, however, claim forty-one of the independent members, and they pledge to act independently. This gives them the balance of control and leaves the result in doubt.

The senatorship is the problem in which most interest is manifested. The avowed Republican candidates are former Governor Henry D. Quinn and Rosencrans W. Pillsbury, editor of the Manchester Union. Henry P. Hollis and Clarence W. Carr are the Democratic candidates for the senatorial toga. Governor Robert P. Bass is regarded as a receptive Progressive candidate. Many look for a deadlock over the senatorship.

The problem of the governorship is expected to present fewer difficulties in its solution. In the election of November 5 the Democrats made sweeping gains and all but succeeded in landing their candidate for governor, Samuel D. Felker of Rochester. Mr. Felker had a substantial plurality, but under the constitutional provision requiring a majority of the votes the election was thrown into the legislature. In making their selection the lawmakers will be required to vote for one of the two leading candidates at the election, Felker, Democrat; or Franklin Worcester, Republican. As Felker received the plurality of the votes cast at the election it is believed that many of the Progressives will feel it their duty to vote for him. Governor Bass, leader of the Progressive Republicans, has gone on record as favoring Felker, the choice of the regular Republicans.

ANDREW MANNING IS CALLED BY DEATH

Resident of Evansville for Forty Years Past Dies After a Brief Illness.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, Wis., Dec. 30.—Andrew Manning, aged about fifty years and for forty years a resident of this city, passed away at home here last evening after an illness since Christmas day. For the past twenty-nine years Mr. Manning had been employed by J. W. Calkins and the Economy stores and previous to his service with them he worked for the firm of Winston & Bennett. He leaves no intimate relatives but his half-brother, Will Manning of St. James, Minn., and his brother-in-law, T. E. Desmond of Two Cities, Iowa, have arrived here for the funeral. Mr. Manning was a member of the local Knights of Pythias, but in late years had not been closely affiliated.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at the Catholic church. The Economy store will be in mourning and the employees will attend the funeral in a body.

Stopping at St. Augustine as the guest of the board of trade, the president was driven up St. George's street, reputed to be the oldest in the country, and through the old gate at Fort Marion, the ancient Spanish fortress. He held a brief reception after breakfast before continuing his journey to Washington.

CALLAHAN MURDER CASES ARE BROUGHT TO TRIAL

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Winchester, Ky., Dec. 30.—The first of the cases growing out of the assassination of former Sheriff Ed Callahan, the Breathitt county feud leader, is to be called for trial here this week before Judge James M. Benton of the Clark circuit court. There are fifteen defendants and each has applied for a separate trial. It is expected that Asbury McIntosh, who is accused of being the ringleader in the plot to kill Callahan, will be the first to go on trial. Judge Benton has issued a warning that any attempt to bribe or intimidate witnesses will be followed by an immediate indictment.

GERMAN SECRETARY OF STATE IS DEAD

Alfred Von Kiderlan-Waechter, Famed As Diplomat, Dies Today After A Brief Illness.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Stuttgart, Germany, Dec. 30.—Alfred Von Kiderlan-Waechter, secretary of state of the German empire, died suddenly at his home here today after a brief illness. He was enjoying his usual Christmas visit to his sister, the Baroness Von Gemmingen near here. He had felt extremely ill for several days, so much so that physicians were called in and feared a fatal termination as his heart action was very irregular.

The end came with great suddenness at ten minutes to eight this morning when the secretary expired from heart failure while he was practically alone.

Alfred Von Kiderlan-Waechter was 60 years of age. He had occupied the office as imperial secretary of state for foreign affairs since June 28, 1912, when he succeeded Wilhelm von Schoen, who became German ambassador to France.

The advent of Kiderlan-Waechter was not greeted with great enthusiasm in the German imperial parliament. He was a poor orator and his speeches did not create a good impression. He was known, however, as one of the shrewdest men in German diplomacy and was regarded as an expert on affairs of the near east, owing to his having been stationed for a long time in the Balkans, and his disappearance from the German cabinet at the present time is considered to be a great misfortune.

During his short period of office as foreign secretary he was successful in steering the international politics of the German empire through a period of unusual entanglement more especially in regard to the settlement of the dispute between France and Germany as to the future of Morocco. The negotiations were brought to a successful termination last year when France and Germany signed an agreement as the result of which their relations have been much more cordial.

Von Kiderlan-Waechter was for many years a great favorite of the Emperor William who, however, practically banished him for a decade to what was then comparatively unimportant post of German minister.

COUNTY SUPERVISOR IS ACCUSED OF BRIBERY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Lockport, N. Y., Dec. 30.—The case of Simon Miller, one of the Niagara County supervisors whose indictment and arrest created a sensation some time ago, was called in court today for trial. Miller is accused of having offered George A. Plaster, another of the supervisors, a bribe of $100 to vote for Henry G. Mess of Niagara Falls in the selection of an architect to prepare plans for a new county almshouse.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS MAY BE INFLUENCED BY RECENT EVENTS

Three Events Expected to Influence Course of Peace. Delegates who Met Again Today for Seventh Session.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Eng., Dec. 30.—The peace conference between the delegates of the Balkan states and of the Turkish empire assembled at four o'clock this afternoon in St. James Palace for its seventh session. Dr. S. Daneoff, speaker of the Bulgarian parliament, presided. It is expected here that the course of the negotiations may be influenced by three events. The first of these is the death of the German foreign secretary, Alfred Von Kiderlan-Waechter, which coming soon after that of Baron Marshall Von Bieberstein, formerly German ambassador at Constantinople and afterwards at London, deprives Turkey of two valuable supporters and convinces upholders of the maintenance of the Ottoman empire.

Von Kiderlan-Waechter was supposed to have been the instigator of the Austro-Hungarian armament on the Balkan frontier.

The second occurrence is the re-assembling of the house of commons today. Although Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, is determined to maintain Great Britain's strict neutrality, he cannot prevent members of the house asking questions to show the trend of public opinion. Turkey has many sympathizers here. This is partly due to the traditional British antagonism against Russian and partly to the recollection of the Crimean war when the Turkish and British troops fought together as allies.

Ambassadors' Ideas.

Constantinople, Dec. 30.—The ambassadors of most of the European Powers have advised the Ottoman government to make an effort to come to the terms of the Balkan allies.

The Russian ambassador here, in particular coupled his advice with a warning as to the dangerous consequences of delay in view of the situation in Asia Minor.

This Russian representation has produced a disagreeable impression in Turkish official circles, while the agitation in the army in favor of a resumption of hostilities continues. Many hard bills have been distributed among the Turkish officers and men counselling the continuance of the war and the non-surrender of the fortress of Adrianople.

Instructions Incomplete.

London, Eng., Dec. 30.—The Turkish envoys informed the representatives of the Balkan nations that their instructions were incomplete and that a further reference to Constantinople was necessary. They indicated they would be in a position to resound their original proposals regarding Macedonia.

The Turkish plenipotentiary, Rached Pasha, then proposed that the conference submit most of the matter contained in the Turkish counter proposal to the mediation of the great powers.

The delegates of the Balkan allies were rather agitated at the suddenness and informality with which such an important proposition was introduced and objected.

"That is not the way to prevent such a serious reaching of the Balkan envoys ejaculated in chorus. The Turks retorted that if greater formally were required it would be necessary to adjourn so the delegates separated until Wednesday."

HALL & HUEBEL

EXPRESS COMPANIES HAVE A COMPETITOR

CARRYING OF SMALL PACKAGES UNDER POSTOFFICE SUPERVISION AT BEGINNING OF 1913.

PARCEL POST SYSTEM

Has Been Worked Out In All Its Details by Postmaster General Hitchcock Following Act of Congress.

Washington, Dec. 30.—A New Year's gift by the American government to the American people will be a thoroughly equipped domestic parcel post. Following consideration of the subject in a general way for a third of a century, congress, last August, authorized the postmaster general to establish the new system on January 1st, 1913.

In actual operation, it is expected that the parcel post will bring the nation a series of zones and other touch with the consumer, and it may reduce the cost of living. The largest city and the most obscure hamlet alike will enjoy the advantages of the parcel post. It will be open to all on precisely equal terms.

The new system will be a direct competitor of the express companies, particularly on small package business. By it, shippers practically may send from their own doors, parcels to any one of the 60,000 postoffices in the United States.

The rates of postage for parcel post matter differ radically from those of other classes of mail. First, second and third class mail matter now is transported at a flat rate for any distance. Parcel post rates are based on a series of zones and other increase as the distance increases. The first zone includes all territory within a radius of approximately fifty miles from the postoffice at which the parcel may be mailed; the second, 150 miles; the third, 300 miles; the fourth, 600 miles; the fifth, 1,000 miles; the sixth, 1,400 miles; the seventh, 1,800 miles; and the eighth, all territory beyond 1,800 miles.

By the terms of the law, all matter not now embraced in the first, second and third, classes of mail matter may be forwarded by parcel post, provided a single package does not exceed 11 pounds in weight or is not greater in dimensions than 72 inches in combined length and girth, and is not of such a character as to injure postal employees or damage equipment or other mail matter. In a word, it will include all kinds of merchandise.

The rates are computed on the distance and on the weight of the package in pounds. Provision is made, however, for small packages weighing from one to four ounces, which may be sent at a flat rate of one cent for each ounce, but for packages weighing more than four ounces the pound rate of postage applies.

Within the postal district of any postoffice a local rate of five cents for the first pound and one cent for each additional pound is prescribed. Within the fifty miles representing the first zone, the rate is five cents for the first pound and three cents for each additional pound is prescribed. With the distance until it reaches a maximum of twelve cents a pound for delivery within the eighth zone, 1,800 miles from the point of mailing.

Under the regulations promulgated by Postmaster General Hitchcock, the maximum rate of twelve cents a pound, applies on all parcels, except those weighing four ounces or less, addressed to any point in Canada, Mexico, Cuba and the Republic of Panama. The domestic rate also applies to any point in the Hawaiian Islands, the United States postal agency at Shanghai, to any point in Alaska and between any two points in Alaska. It applies, likewise, to parcels mailed in the United States for delivery in the Canal Zone and to parcels going to or coming from the Philippine Islands.

In the opinion of the postal experts the new service will be the most gigantic transportation proposition ever undertaken by the government. The service will extend over more than 1,850,000 miles of transportation lines, including 233,399 miles of railroads, 164,399 miles of star routes, 23,283 miles of steamboat lines, and 1,007,772 miles of rural mail routes.

For parcel post matter, a distinctive set of postage stamps has been provided. These distinctive stamps must be used for all parcel post matter. If the packages bear ordinary postage stamps they will be held for postage.

Immediately upon the enactment of the parcel post law, Postmaster General Hitchcock appointed a committee of postal officials to work out the details of the new system and to put it into operation. The committee consists of the highest authorities on all phases of postal administration. Its personnel is Robert S. Sharp, chief postoffice inspector, chairman; J. C. Koon, superintendent of salaries and allowances; C. B. Hurley, chief clerk of the third assistant postmaster general; C. L. Wood, superintendent of rural mail; and A. A. Fisher, chief clerk to the second assistant postmaster general. Associated with the committee in an advisory capacity is George G. Thomson, chief clerk of the postoffice department. These officials have developed the plan of the parcel post and prepared the details of its operation.

The drafting of regulations to govern matter transmitted by parcel post was personally directed by Postmaster General Hitchcock. One of these regulations is that each parcel mailed must bear on its face the name and address of the sender preceded by the word "From." Parcels intended for dispatch must be mailed at a postoffice, branch postoffice, named or lettered station or such numbered station as may be designated by the postmaster. They must not be placed in, or upon letter boxes or package boxes located in city streets. They may be given, however, to any rural or star route carrier. Parcels must not be sealed and must be so prepared as to permit of easy examination.

Such parcels as contain two or more classes of mail matter are chargeable with postage at the rate prescribed for the higher class.

All matter which is declared unmaillable by law will be unmaillable as parcel post matter. This includes obscene, indecent, and immoral matter, intoxicating liquors, poisons, live animals, birds and poultry, inflammable articles and such things as raw hides or pelts or other articles having a bad odor. The regulations prescribe minutely methods to be used in packing parcels. Liquids and oils, paste and salves, sharp instruments, fire powders, pepper and snuff, must be placed in water-tight receptacles and in many instances surrounded by absorbent material to prevent damage to other mail matter.

Articles such as millinery, toys, musical instruments and glassware must be labeled "Fragile."

One of the interesting features of the regulations concerns perishable articles. In this class are placed butter, lard, fish, fresh meats, dressed fowls, vegetables and fruits and berries. Provision is made for carrying almost every article produced on the farm except live animals and live fowls. In the local zone little packing is required. Within the first zone—that is for a shipment of 50 miles—all these articles must be enclosed in an inner cover and in a strong outer cover of wood, metal or heavy corrugated pasteboard and so wrapped that nothing can escape from the package. It has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of Postmaster General Hitchcock that eggs can be transported safely by parcel post. Of course, they may not be mailed in paper bags, but must be enclosed in paper containers.

Parcels which cannot be delivered will take their course through the dead letter office. If a parcel should contain matter that, in course of its transportation, becomes offensive, or injurious to health, it may be destroyed by the postmaster. Undeliverable perishable matter which does not become offensive or injurious to health may be turned over to local municipal authorities to be distributed to hospitals, asylums or other similar institutions.

Provision is made in the law for the indemnification of shippers for lost packages. The law prescribes that by insurance the actual value of lost packages will be given to the senders. Postmaster General Hitchcock has devised a unique system for handling insured parcels, consisting of a shipping tag printed with two coupons, one of which is torn off and given to the sender, the second retained by the postmaster at the sending office, the tag itself being attached to the parcel and bearing the name and address of the person to whom it is to be delivered. The fee for this insurance is ten cents. In the event of loss the government will pay the actual value of the contents not exceeding fifty dollars.

Postmaster General Hitchcock entertains the belief that the parcel post is destined to become one of the most important features of the postal service.

GOLF CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

H. H. Bliss Elected President at the Annual Meeting—Charles Gage Secretary.

At the annual meeting of the Janesville Golf Club held in the library room of the Gazette Friday evening, H. H. Bliss was elected president for the coming year, George E. King, vice-president, Charles Gage, secretary and Harry Faggart, treasurer. Dr. F. B. Farnsworth, E. C. Baumann, Henry Scott, Malcolm Jeffris and F. S. Sheldon members of the board of directors. The club has had a most prosperous year and plans for the coming season were discussed and other matters of importance decided upon.

The club has never been in a more prosperous condition and the members of the various committees having had charge of the past year's club doings should be congratulated on their success. Plans were discussed with a view of making a bunker at No. 5 and removing two trees from the course. This latter was left in the hands of Al Schaefer who will consult with the professional club of the Rockford club. The course itself is in excellent shape and has been pronounced one of the best in the middle west by many leading golfers who have played over it.

PLAN TO OBSERVE WEEK OF PRAYER

Ministers of City Made Plans Today For Services to be Held in Protestant Churches.

Next week will be observed as the week of prayer among the Protestant churches of this city, according to plans made at a meeting of ministers in the Y. M. C. A. building. It is the universal custom of the churches throughout the country to observe this week of prayer, and in accordance with this custom, arrangements will be made for services to be held in various churches. The services will commence Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 7, with a service in the Presbyterian church at four o'clock. The services will last one hour only. Other meetings will be held during the week in other churches, the pastors of each church presiding at the meeting in his church. The meetings are arranged to be as follows:

Tuesday, 4 p. m. Presbyterian church, Rev. C. J. Roberts, speaker.

Wednesday, 4 p. m. Baptist church, Rev. T. D. Williams, speaker.

Thursday, 4 p. m. Congregational church, Rev. J. C. Hazen, speaker.

Thursday, 7:30 p. m. Methodist church, Rev. David Beaton, speaker. This service will take the place of the weekly prayer meeting services.

Friday, 4 p. m. United Brethren church, Rev. J. W. Laughlin, speaker.

INSURANCE MATTER WILL BE TAKEN UP WITH COMMISSIONER

County Clerk Will Attempt to Secure Reduction of State Tornado Insurance on County Buildings.

At the annual meeting of the county board in November a resolution was introduced following an informal report of the building committee on the matter of insurance on the county buildings which provided that the county clerk enter negotiations with the insurance commissioner's department at Madison to secure if possible a reduction in the amount of tornado insurance on the county house and other buildings.

The county elected to come under the state system but after doing so decided that insurance in the old line companies would be more satisfactory. When they tried to rescind their former action it was found that it could not be done. The building committee then went ahead and insured the county buildings against fire losses for a five year period in old line companies. This was before the state system went into effect.

Last summer the insurance department sent down inspectors to look over the buildings and decide whether they had been insured for fire and tornado damage up to 90 per cent of true value as required by law and which the county had elected to come in. It was found that the county was carrying practically no tornado insurance on the county house and jail and consequently the state went ahead and insured them along this line.

The supervisors were indignant at the action as it has been considered that these buildings suffered very little hazard from such a source and action was consequently taken to see if the amount of tornado insurance could not be reduced in some manner.

The subject of state insurance is treated in the following interesting manner by the Western Underwriter in a late issue:

State insurance is costing Rock county, Wis., $285,73 more for its tornado coverage every five years than it could secure the same amount of protection for from stock companies. The state fund, which is open to counties, cities and school districts for the insurance of buildings, charges 18 2/3 cents per hundred for tornado and allows a credit of 25 per cent for the 90 per cent co-insurance clause. As this clause is compulsory, the rate is 12 1/2 cents annually or 62 1/2 for five years. The board rates are 20 cents for one year, 40 for three, and 60 for five and with 25 percent off for 90 percent co-insurance is 45 cents for five years. The amount of insurance required on the Rock county court house, jail, poor farm and insane hospital is $221,004, making the premium on all county buildings, making a total bill of $290,287. The statement is the only contract which the county has, no policy having been issued. The statement, however, makes two apparent errors in favor of the county. It calls for $24,500 fire insurance on the court house at a rate of 30 cents and makes the premium $7,350 instead of $105,50. On the jail there is $16,500 at 30 cents, with a premium of $4,950 instead of $49,50.

No fire insurance is required on the poor farm buildings and insane hospital as the county board had sufficient rewritten just before July 1, when the state insurance was started, to take care of the property for five years. The board had previously voted to go into the fund and when local agents pointed out the saving that could be made with the regular companies the board rescinded its action. Word came from the state that a county once in could not get out and lawyers on the county board admitted that the law was such. The board then decided to make the best of it and had all fire insurances cancelled and rewritten for five years, thinking to get the best of the state for that length of time anyway.

When the bill was received from the state it was discovered that the same thing should have been done with the tornado insurance, something the county board had overlooked. The board had also overlooked its court house and jail, though the commissioners thought they had nearly sufficient insurance. However, the state sent its appraisers to Janesville and unbeknown to the county went over all the buildings and fixed their valuations. The commissioners believe they should have been consulted on these valuations and should have more to say regarding other matters. But it has been discovered that in buying state insurance the state dictates all terms and the county has absolutely nothing to say.

FAVORS EXAMINATION OF BANK OFFICIALS

Commissioner Kuolt Files Annual Report in Which He Praises Work of Bank Examiners.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 30.—Legislation requiring examination for officers of all banks in Wisconsin, such as the state requires of inspectors, physicians, lawyers, accountants, etc., is recommended by State Banking Commissioner Albert E. Kuolt in his annual report submitted to the governor today. He asks that no new bank be permitted to transact business with public without having in charge of its affairs a competent managing officer.

The commissioner recommends that the provision for checking "undue and harmful competition" among banks through reasonably enlarging the power of refusing charters vested in the commissioner of banking; and his recommendation for an amendment to enable state banks to qualify as depositories of postal savings funds.

Declaring that Milwaukee is now abundantly supplied with banking facilities, Commissioner Kuolt says: "The regard for the interests of the public and fairness to existing banks would seem to demand that the minimum amount of capital for new banks in the state's metropolis should be fixed by law at not less than $100,000."

Another important recommendation made is the conduct of a credit bureau as an adjunct to the state banking department. A similar movement is afoot in other states.

The credit bureaus of several states, he says, "could be formed into an interstate credit bureau, whose ramifications eventually would cover the entire country, and whose services would be of incalculable value to banks and to the people of the several states. The proposed credit bureau of this department would thus be the nucleus of an extensive public service."

The territory from which real estate securities may be accepted for loans by Wisconsin state banks and by mutual savings banks is limited to Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois and Iowa. It is recommended that this provision be extended to cover mortgage loans of trust companies, to which the law does not at present apply.

Commissioner Kuolt's report presents the financial condition of 590 state banks, four mutual savings banks, and thirteen trust companies, a total of 607 banking institutions, doing business on Nov. 26, 1912, the date of the last periodical statement of condition. The total capital is $29,011,550, of which $1,350,000, during the past twelve months; the total resources are $209,037,495.52, an increase of $23,033,951.58, and the amount of lawful money on hand is $7,601,272.97, a gain of $529,177.19 over the corresponding amounts returned a year ago.

No bank failures occurred in Wisconsin in 1912, nor have there been any failures of banks operating under the state laws since July, 1909. This "perfect score" adds the commissioner is "a record unparalleled in the history of banking in this country." In this connection he gives great praise to the staff of banking examiners—C. L. Brown, A. R. Emerson, Thomas Herrold, R. B. Ellis, A. C. Pond, C. F. Schwenker and H. E. Steidman, and to Deputy Commissioner W. H. Richards.

Mike Donlin is to play with the Philadelphia Nationals next season. This is the sixth club in the league for Donlin to be associated with. He has played with St. Louis, Cincinnati, Boston, New York and Pittsburgh, and was also a member of the old Baltimore American league team.

Speaking of predictions in the world of sports, perhaps the palm for making foolish ones should go to Frank Bergin, who was quarterback at Princeton a few years ago. Before the Yale-Harvard game this fall, Bergin, who coached Brickley at Exeter, had this comment to make:

"Brickley is not constitutionally a football player. He has not the 'fight.' I can't see where Yale has to worry about him. I'll guarantee you he won't finish the game, and it won't be because Yale is rough, with him, either. I don't think he has got it in him."

Germany regard boxing as a barbarous sport and probably will not permit it at the next Olympic games, to be held in Berlin in 1916. The United States, Sweden, Norway and England are in favor of boxing at the great international contests.

Georges Carpentier, the French middleweight champion, is coming to America soon and probably will be able to meet Americans in his class before the end of January. Up to the time he met defeat at the hands of Frank Chas last summer, Carpentier had a long string of victories to his credit and had defeated all the best fighters of England and France.

BOWLERS TO HOLD BANQUET TONIGHT

Fifty members of Janesville League will enjoy dinner at Caledonian Rooms this evening.

Members of the Janesville bowling league will hold their annual business meeting and banquet at the Caledonian rooms at seven-thirty this evening. A business session will precede the dinner hour, at which the tournament of the season will be announced and committees named to attend to schedule and other arrangements.

Forty or fifty members of the league will attend the banquet which promises to be a function of unusual brilliance. Music will be furnished by Roy Carter and an elaborate menu will be served. A program of speeches and songs will follow the banquet and each member of the winning team the Cardinals, will doubtless be called upon for remarks, as will the captains of the other fives.

The championship banner and other prizes will be presented with appropriate addresses.

WHITEWATER BASKETBALL TEAM DEFEATS LOCALS

Company E. Five Proves Superior to Local Players Who Are Beaten 44 to 22.

A Janesville basketball team composed of R. Cunningham and Cruser, forwards, Wilkinson, center, and Mott and Spooner, guards, were badly defeated at Whitewater last Friday evening by the fast Company E team of that place, the score being 44 to 22. The game was arranged very hurriedly to accommodate the Whitewater men who had been disappointed in a scheduled game. The locals were at a disadvantage but put up a scrappy fight.

He should do well in America as the ten-round limit bouts will just suit him. Another thing in his favor is the rule that prohibits a blow being struck in the breakaways. Carpentier is a clever boxer with a stiff punch.

It is believed that during the annual meeting of the National league in Cincinnati January 6, Kling and Konetich will land in Pittsburgh. Rogers Eversman in Cincinnati and a bunch of players from the Pirates and Reds will go to the St. Louis club in exchange for the placing of Brenahan with Cincinnati and Konetich with Pittsburgh.

Next year promises to be the poorest the Chicago Cubs have seen in a long, long time. From 1906 to 1912 they had a wonderful machine and were pretty successful. But the stars of yesterday are gone. It took the Athletics, Red Sox, Pirates and Giants a number of years to win championships after disintegration. Will it be the same with the Cubs?

That Hal Chase is no longer the best first baseman in the American league is the opinion of Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington Nationals. Clark says Chick Gandil of his team now has the distinction of being the best first sacker.

"While not as sensational as Chase, Gandil is steadier and I believe a man better at low throws than the peerless Hal," says Griffith. He should know, for he was leader of the Highlanders when Chase made his major league "rep." But there are many fans who will disagree with Griffith.

EQUIPMENT ORDERED FOR THE POLO TEAM

Captain Kilmer Will Have His Team Out for Practice This Week—Lakota Five Play Friday Night.

A rush order for the equipment for the Janesville roller polo team was sent in by Manager J. L. Snyder this morning and will be here sometime later in the week for the first practice. Captain Kilmer will take charge of the training of the candidates for the team and promises some keen rivalry for position. Among likely candidates are John Conley and Fred and Harry Gaffney. Mr. Snyder will go into Milwaukee in the near future to arrange the schedule for the local team.

The Lakota Cardinals basketball team will meet the fast Armour square five of Chicago on Friday evening of this week. This will be one of the fastest games of the season and the local five will put in some strenuous practice in preparation.

Roller skaters will enjoy a watch party at the rink tomorrow evening. Manager Snyder announces that the band will furnish music until after midnight.

OBITUARY.

Frank Lock. Last services for Frank Lock were held at two o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of his mother, at 514 Eastern avenue. The Rev. C. J. Koerner, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, officiated. The pall bearers were E. Rupnow, R. Rupnow, F. Strassman, A. Albright, W. Myer, and A. Myer. Interment was made in Oak Hill cemetery.

John Zerbel. John Zerbel, aged 59, passed away about ten o'clock Sunday morning at his home at 530 North River street, after an illness of several weeks with stomach trouble. Mr. Zerbel was born June 28, 1853 in Germany, came to this country when nineteen years old. He worked for about two years on the farm of J. E. Gleason, and then came to this city to take a position in the brewery now owned by the Crown Brewing company, where he has since worked. He is survived by a wife, two sisters, Mrs. August Pitzkahn, of this city and Mrs. Thomas Anderson, of Portland, Ore., and four brothers, Reinhold, August and Fred Zerbel of this city, and Albert Zerbel of Germany. Mr. Zerbel was a member of Bower City Verein, No. 31, G. U. G. and was united with St. John's German Lutheran church. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the home, 530 North River street, and at two o'clock from the church. Rev. Fuchs will officiate and the Verein will have charge of the services at the Oak Hill cemetery.

Mrs. James C. Smith. Mrs. James C. Smith passed away at 9:35 yesterday morning at her home, 1220 Racine street. She had been in poor health for several years and was forty-five years of age at the time of her death. Mrs. Smith was born in this city on October 9, 1867, her maiden name being Mary Rooney. She was married in this city on April 19, 1883 to James S. Smith, who with two brothers and four sisters are left to mourn her loss. Her sisters are Miss Margaret Rooney of Chicago, Mrs. Wilcox of Watertown, Wis., Mrs. Lewis Proctor of South Dakota, and Mrs. Josephine Cunningham of this city. The brothers are William and John Rooney of this city. Mrs. Smith has always lived in Janesville with the exception of two years spent in Whitewater. The loss of her husband, brothers and sisters in her death is also the loss of a large number of friends, with whom will mourn her departure. The funeral will be held from the home tomorrow morning, requiem mass being celebrated at St. Mary's church at nine o'clock. Interment will be made in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Gustav Frederick Manthel. Gustav Frederick Manthel died at eight o'clock this morning at his home, 904 Western avenue. Mr. Manthel was born in Germany, September 30, 1859, and came to this city in 1885. Surviving him are his wife, three daughters, Mrs. Charles Manthel of this city, Mrs. William Manthel of Beloit and Miss Clara Manthel of this city, and six sons: Herman, Albert, Carl, Otto, Paul, and William Manthel, all of this city. Funeral services will be held at the home, at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and at St. Paul's German Lutheran church at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in Oak Hill cemetery.

Michael Madden. Requiem mass for the late Michael Madden was celebrated at St. Patrick's church at nine o'clock this morning by the Rev. Dean E. E. Kelly. Those who acted as pallbearers were: James Dee, Charles Viner, N. Dailley, J. Burns, J. Cassidy, and J. O'Connor. Interment was made in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

JOHN P. TOWNE IS DEAD AT EDGERTON

Respected Pioneer of County, Former Chairman of County Board, Passes Away on Sunday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Edgerton, Dec. 30.—John P. Towne, one of Edgerton's oldest and most highly respected citizens, passed away Sunday morning, Dec. 29, 1912. John P. Towne was born June 12, 1826, and was educated in the eastern states. He was graduated from Norwich university, Vermont, in 1852, and as an attorney at law, came to Wisconsin in 1858, locating at Edgerton. He married Miss Rosalie Ford, daughter of Nelson Ford of Cambridge, Dane county, Wisconsin, in 1860. To this union three children were born: Louis H., and Mrs. E. L. Dickinson of this city, and Mrs. L. H. Roethe of Janesville.

Mr. Towne was justice of the peace for eighteen years, chairman of the Board of Supervisors two years, and town clerk three years. He also practiced law for several years in this city. During his life Mr. Towne won the confidence and esteem of the citizens of Edgerton and will be greatly missed by his associates in life. The funeral will be held at his late home on Washington street, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Patrick M. Quigley. Another old comrade was summoned by the call of death Monday morning. Patrick M. Quigley, who has been a patient sufferer for several weeks, of cancer of the stomach, was born the 15th day of October, 1841, in Boyle, county of Roscommon, Ireland. On August 15, 1864, at Janesville, Wis., he enlisted as a private in Company I, 28th Regiment, Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry. The only battle in which he participated was at Petersburg, Va. He was confined in the hospital at City Point, Va., in December, 1864. The most important event in his service during the war was the surrender of General Lee to General Grant at Appomattox court house. He was honorably discharged from the service at Philadelphia, Pa., June 15, 1865, at the close of the war. Mr. Quigley leaves to mourn his loss, his devoted wife, and eleven children—five boys and six girls—viz: Daniel J., Patrick Jr., Gerard, Frank T., John H., Anna, Mrs. O. H. Thompson, Mrs. J. H. Ryan, Winifred, Adeline, Frances.

BAR ASSOCIATION HELD A SPECIAL MEETING TODAY

Name Committee to Draw Up Resolutions Relative to the Death of J. P. Towne of Edgerton.

At a special meeting of the Rock County Bar Association, held this morning, a committee was named to draw up resolutions relative to the death of J. P. Towne of Edgerton, and Judge Sale, William Rager, Sr., and L. E. Gettle being named. As many members of the association as possible will attend the funeral which will be held in Edgerton on Tuesday morning.

DESIRE TO START WORK ON Y. M. C. A. BUILDING SOON

Hope to Have Funds for Remodeling of Building Pledged by Fifteenth of January.

By the fifteenth of January, it is hoped the funds necessary for the remodeling of the Y. M. C. A. building will have been pledged, and within ninety days, it is desired to have the work on the interior of the building completed. According to the agreement made with those who have subscribed toward the fund, the contract cannot be let until the full amount necessary, $23,000 has been subscribed, but it is very much desired that this should be secured, as the work can be done to advantage now, when men can be recruited for the work. The work on the second floor of the building, in moving the gymnasium and installing a running track, will, it is said, be completed within thirty days after the contract is let.

ELEANORA SEARS AMERICA'S CHAMPION WOMAN ATHLETE; SOCIAL FAVORITE, TOO

Eleanor Sears, of Boston, who recently added to her fame by inventing the "chicken clip," is America's champion woman athlete. This is not a thing in the realm of sport that she won't undertake. She even has become proficient with the p. d. m. m. She swims, plays polo and championship tennis, is an expert horsewoman, and more recently has become a devotee of ice skating.

In addition to being an athlete, Miss Sears is a society woman who is equally well known in New York, Newport and Boston, and has a reputation as a hostess that extends from Bar Harbor to California.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE IN SESSION TODAY

Committee of Supervisors Consider Matter of Tuberculosis Sanatorium for Rock County.

L. E. Gettle of Edgerton, Simon Smith of Beloit, Dr. C. M. Smith of Evansville, F. M. Roach, town of Harmony, and S. B. Heddies of Janesville, members of the special committee of the county board named to investigate the matter of a county tuberculosis sanatorium, held a meeting at the office of the county clerk today.

Various suggestions and plans were gone over and it was decided to make a trip of investigation to some county sanatorium where the system has already been given a trial. Several members of the committee will make an investigation of this nature and report at a future meeting of the committee. It was also suggested that a trip be made to the state sanatorium at Wales. One or two additional meetings of the committee will, doubtless be held in order to prepare a complete report for the board meeting next month.

The special committee of supervisors named at the November meeting of the county board to prepare contracts for the incoming sheriff and county abstractor, held a meeting today at the court house and approved the contracts which were signed by the officials. The committee is composed of L. E. Gettle, Dr. C. M. Smith and R. K. Overton.

THE RECALL.

The decision of the city attorney, on the recall proposition, will be endorsed by all fair-minded people, and will settle, once for all, the importance of legality, when such proceedings are taken. The sincerity of the men responsible for the movement, is not questioned, but it is evident that they were poorly advised, from a legal standpoint.

Ordinary common sense should suggest that the recall was never intended to apply to an entire city administration. It is easy to conceive that a mayor or a commissioner might be unsatisfactory and removal might be necessary for cause, but it is beyond belief that the entire force should be guilty of charges which should warrant their removal.

This in itself is sufficient cause for declaring the petition illegal, but there are other reasons. The number of illegal voters, whose names appear, is extremely large. No honest man will claim that this class of men have a right to dictate the policy of city government.

There are other irregularities, which if followed up might make it uncomfortable for some of the men interested. An oath is a serious proposition, and it becomes a man to know what he is swearing to, before affixing his name to an affidavit.

It is to be regretted that the proceedings were not legal, for the promoters and their sympathizers will now pose as martyrs. If the grievance, which they entertain, is regarded of sufficient moment, they can of course start out with another petition, but the outlook for success is not promising.

It is well to remember that there is only one issue involved, and that is the issue of law or lawlessness, and it is difficult to understand how any man, be he temperate or intemperate, can favor lawlessness.

The man who has a family is interested in the protection of law. If he is a drinking man himself, he wants his boy to be sober, and he wants his girl protected from vice. The mother, who has no vote, is more deeply interested, and so every home in the city is watching the present crusade against public morality.

The question of the legality of the recall is a legal question pure and simple, and whatever may be the legal decision, it will be accepted as final. It is to be hoped that some way may be found to submit the matter to the voters, for that would be the most satisfactory to all concerned.

THE DYNAMITE CASE.

The verdict of the jury, in the federal court at Indianapolis, last Saturday, found thirty-eight men guilty of conspiracy, or active participation in the dynamite tragedies, which were so prevalent, two years ago.

The government of the United States was the prosecutor, and every effort was exhausted in securing evidence which would insure conviction, for the crimes committed were nationwide, and a menace to the country.

It is unfortunate for organized labor that the convicted men are all union men, for while the unions are not in sympathy with this kind of lawlessness, the fact that their ranks harbor a class of men who stop at nothing to satisfy vengeance, is a serious reflection.

If the trial results in ridding organized labor of this class of representatives, it will be the best thing that ever happened. Crimes of this kind are the climax of strikes and boycotts, where the spirit of hatred is engendered and developed until it finally crystallizes in desperate action.

The labor world is not a world by itself. It is a part of the great mechanism which makes for progress and it should work in harmony with every other part. Labor troubles should be adjusted by arbitration and mutual agreement, and the time is approaching when this will be done, in all cases of disagreement.

Brain, capital and labor, are the three great forces which make the nation strong. They are interdependent, and there is every reason why they should work in harmony.

The destruction of life and property never accomplishes anything for labor, and the outcome may prove disastrous, as it did in the case of the dynamiters. The lesson taught should have a salutary influence, and cause men to think twice before making unreasonable demands.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING.

"The problem of high prices still monopolizes public attention, and the cost of living has become quite as important a factor in business life as in private life. Opinions as to the causes of high prices are of course divided; not a few authorities, particularly those of a theoretical habit of mind, clinging to the theory that gold is the main cause. While the increase in the gold supply must have some influence upon values, its effects are grossly exaggerated. It must be remembered that gold is not the chief basis of credit. Infinitely more credit is based upon salable property than upon gold. Moreover, it is doubtful if the increase in gold supply has more than kept pace with the world's rapidly increasing requirements. The steamship and the cable have wonderfully consolidated the business world, so that today industrial activity is worldwide on a scale never before experienced. Great Britain, Germany and all the other industrial nations have been enjoying a boom even greater than the United States. There has been an enormous expansion of credit in consequence, an expansion which some authorities believe to be out of all proportion to the increase of the gold supply. What would a paltry increase of one or two hundred millions in the latter amount to alongside the tremendous expansion of the world's credit? More gold has been used in the arts, and several nations have recently come under the gold standard. Moreover, India has been hoarding gold on an unprecedented scale. Her withdrawals on this account during the past eight years have been estimated at over $400,000,000. The Balkan-Turkish war has also caused considerable hoarding. The real causes for higher prices have been: Demand outrunning supply; rise in land values the world over; advance in the cost of labor; higher standards of living; increased taxation, and several other minor influences. The best cure is increased production. The supply of many commodities and conveniences is still below demand. It is difficult to find instances where there is oversupply of any sort. The world's trade is still unusually active, and there are no signs of cessation. A period of rising values is very apt to be one of more or less public unrest until consumers have been able to adjust themselves to the new conditions. Labor agitations are largely due to such conditions, and they will not entirely disappear until prices fall or wages become more closely adjusted to these conditions.

Henry Clews the New York banker, has this to say in his annual letter reviewing the year. The causes given for the high cost of living are sound and sensible. Supply and demand is the great regulator of prices, and our demands have increased rapidly, during a long continued era of prosperity.

The Gazette carried a complete press report to the dynamite verdict in its issue of Saturday evening, a duplicate of which appeared in yesterday morning's dailies, which goes to show that the evening papers canvas the news of the day. The business of the world is transacted by daylight, while crimes seek the cover of darkness. If you are interested in the news, you will find it in the evening paper.

The preachers and decent people of Chicago are doing all in their power to prevent the revelry and lawlessness which the city authorities encourage in celebrating New Year's eve. The wide open town is a poor way to start the new year, and it is to be hoped that efforts to defect the plan in Chicago, will be successful. Good resolutions are entitled to some respect to say the least.

The personnel of the patriots who aspire to serve the city as public officials, is of little importance compared to the issue involved. The principle of law or lawlessness is at stake, and the candidates are of minor importance. The people are on the side of law enforcement, and the will of the people is supreme.

The oldest inhabitant is surprised at this kind of weather at the close of the year, and is confident that he never saw anything like it. Memory is treacherous and a little review of the past half century will disclose the fact that seasons duplicate each others frequently.

THE PURE OF THE MOMENT

The 10 Home Made Santa. When granddad hooked his cotton this year on And pulled his old fur cap down over his ears, Us kids all knew it was the same old con; The one he'd sprung on us for many years. But, still, it didn't seem that we could get Accustomed to him in those togs, because, In the excitement, we would clean forget He was granddad and not real Santa Claus.

The old red coat with fur around the edge, The one that served the same job every year, The bells as he drove up in his old sledge Conspired to make us youngsters shake with fear. We knew it was old granddad all the while, But then it seemed to be agin the laws To fall to shiver in the ague style At anything that looked like Santa Claus.

Us younger kids would sit around the tree, Holding hands, when Santa bustled in, A-lookin' at the presents an', Oh Gee, A-wonderin' if he would e'er begin To pass around the things a-bangin' there. And how we'd hate to see him even pause To say "Good Evening," but we didn't dare To speak a single word to Santa Claus.

Mosquito netting bags full to the top Of good things that we'd waited for a year, But Santa Claus would always have to stop And talk to us awhile on "Christmas Cheer." But when the first kid's name he'd loudly shout That kid would answer "here," with trembling jaws, And wouldn't know just what he was about, He was so doggoned skeered of Santa Claus.

We didn't have much in those olden days; No high falutin' stuff that cost a lot, No autos and no gems with brilliant rays. But we were always pleased with what we got. It's not the same now as it used to be, And, as the years roll by, we love to pause, And try once more in memory to see, Our old-granddad our home-made Santa Claus.

From the Hickeyville Clarion. There is a new electric clock in the Hotel Hickeyville. By golly, it seems as though time flies fast enough with out runnin' it by electricity. The new trimmer at Miss Amy Pringle's military emporium expects to go on the stage soon and marry some steel magnate or other. She says there is more fun trimmin' millionaires than trimmin' hats. I see in the papers where a feller in Baraboo, Wis., dropped dead while gettin' on a train. By jing, the people in our vicinity dies of old age waitin' for a train to come along. No funerals lately. The financial stringency makes folks work so hard to make a livin' that they don't have time to die. Follin' chairs for funerals, dances, and other social function for want, inquire Amos Bults, also livery, feed and sales stables.

It is not known who will run for sheriff in our county next as everybody at present writing is engaged. Jones got a knockdown to the new trimmer. At there, Elmer, Miss Amy Pringle says all the best waltzers are Daughters of the Revolution. Willic Tummus has the mumps. Seems as if that kid had enough cheek without that. Walks are some slickerish today. Uncle Ezra Harkins fell down on his face and it it hadn't been for his whiskers he would have received some bumps, which luckily he escaped. Before he could get up, however, his whiskers froze fast to the ice and the boys had to borrow a crosscut saw from Tibbitt's store to release him.

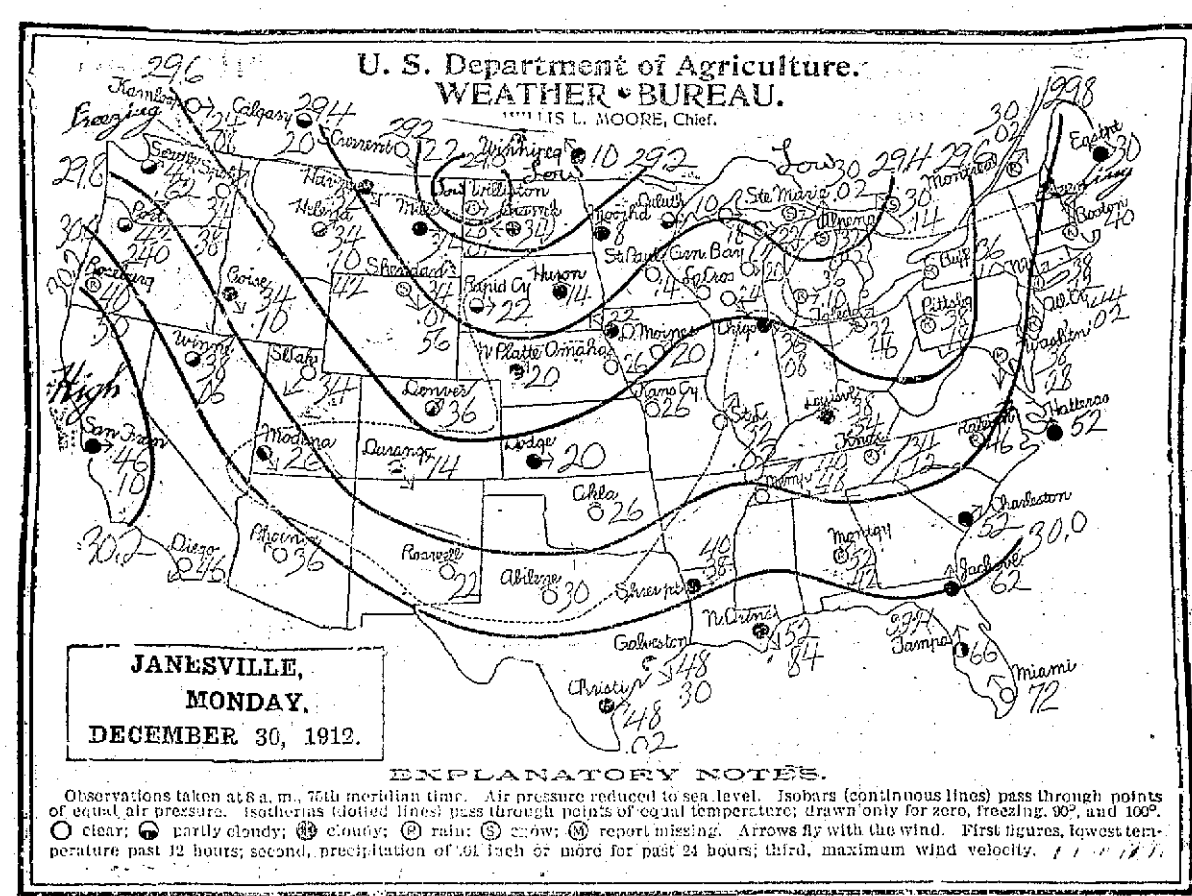

Mrs. Ansel Hanks keeps boarders. But not very long. Woever saw an Indian with whiskers? Anson Frisby our banker spent Thanksgiving and ten shillin' down to the city. Mrs. Frisby has got a new dress made outen mercenary silk.

Legacy to Have His Health Drunk. Mr. John Dipple of Leytonstone, licensed victualler, who died on September 21, bequeathed £250 to the treasurer of the Leyspring lodge of Free Masons upon trust to apply the income in providing for a silent toast to be drunk to his memory, to be proposed at the installation banquet of the lodge by the master.—London Times.

Kind Words. Kind words are the music of the world. They have a power which seems to be beyond natural causes, as if they were some angel's song which had lost its way and come to earth. It seems as if they could almost soften the hard and angry hearts of men. No one was ever corrected by a sarcasm; crushed perhaps if the sarcasm was clever enough, but helped never.—F. W. Faber.

Case Adjourned. The case of James Scott versus August Bohman, set for this morning, has been postponed for trial until Friday. M. O. Mount is the attorney for the plaintiff and Charles Pierce for the defendant. It will be a jury trial, Attorney Pierce having requested the same.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Broomhead of Layton, South Dakota, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Bellhartz, 100 South Main street, for a couple of weeks.

EXPLANATORY NOTES. Observations taken at 8 a. m. with meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isotherms (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 50°, and 100°. Clear (C), partly cloudy (PC), rain (R), snow (S), report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figures, lowest temperature past 12 hours; second, precipitation of .01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

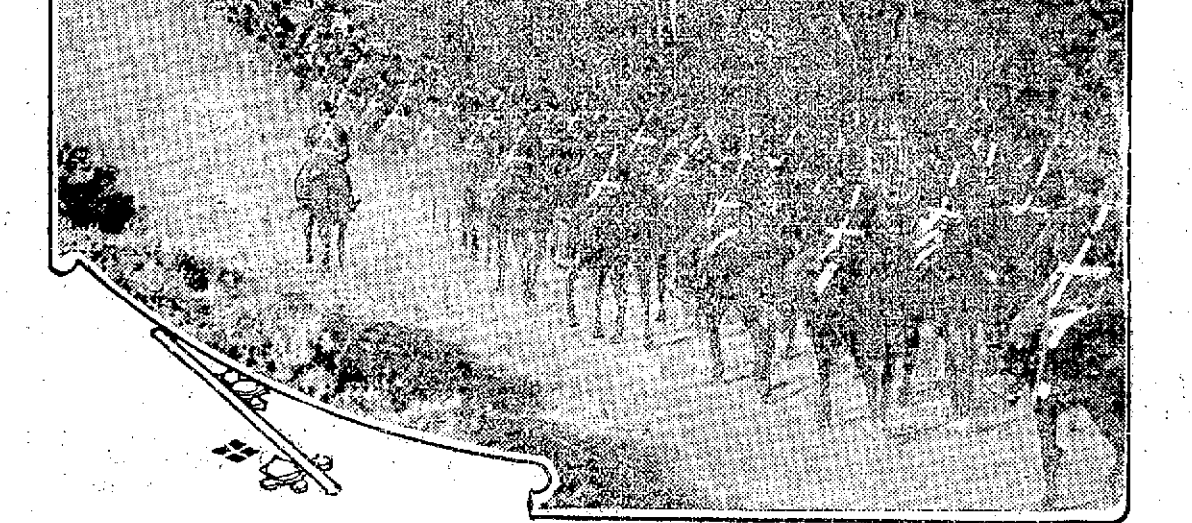

The procession of area of low barometer along the Canadian border still continues. One such depression is now over the Lake Region and has been the cause of warm, rainy weather throughout the east. Another, the most intense so far this season, has advanced from the Pacific coast to North Dakota and Saskatchewan. The atmospheric pressure in the center, reduced to sea level, is below 29 inches as measured with the mercurial barometer. This disturbance is attended by chinook winds and warm weather in the northern Rockies, and by heavy rains on the north Pacific slope, Portland, Ore., reportin 2.40 inches of rain.

The weather is fair in the south-west, with moderate temperatures. Rain has fallen on the Gulf coast, except in Florida.

ENDURANCE AND VALOR OF BULGARIANS SHOWN IN THEIR PURSUIT OF TURK; HUNGRY AND TIRED, PRESS ON WITHOUT FOOD OR REST

During the brief period of the Balkan war the Bulgarian soldiers have shown themselves to possess fighting qualities the like of which is rarely found in the soldiers of any nation. Poorly equipped with arms and without sufficient hospital facilities or food, they have fought the Turk with wonderful courage and skill. In a few days they drove the disorganized Moslems flying before them from the Bulgarian frontier to the very gates of Constantinople. Always they were without sufficient food. Though weary from long marches and hard fighting, they took little rest, but pressed on toward the Turkish capital.

Feats such as the Bulgarians have recently accomplished place the soldiers of King Ferdinand in the front rank of the world's fighting men. A detachment of these indomitable fighters is seen in the accompanying picture, which was taken not far from Constantinople.

Beneficial Stimulant. The coca leaf is highly prized by the natives of Bolivia as a stimulant. He chews it like tobacco, but with a better excuse, since by its use he can perform great feats of endurance and go many hours without food. With a pouch of coca leaves and a small bag of parched corn he can run fifty miles a day. Fleet-footed Indians constitute the telegraph service of the country.

Good Object Lesson. The pupils of a Cleveland (Ohio) school have taken part in a dramatic sketch before the moving picture camera, and their youthful figures and the lesson they teach will soon be known throughout the land. For it is a lesson that they are teaching—the lesson of the importance of the care of the teeth.

The Installment House Evil:

Regularly two or three times each month, large city installment houses send crews of men into Janesville to thoroughly canvass the town for orders on their cheap goods for which they get remarkably high prices. Just recently it has come to our notice that a lady bought a pair of blankets, on the installment plan for $5.00, made by the same mill from which we buy our blankets, but of a cheaper grade. We sell her neighbor, ours at $2 and the neighbor said, "why this is the same as my friend paid $5.00 for. And so it goes, on each article they sell they make from 200% to 500% profit and the consumer pays that profit. Before you buy a single article from an installment house solicitor call on the local merchant who handles the article you intend to buy and in every case you'll find that he will give you a better article for less money."

Literature Regarding Travel To Florida

When every one in a position to travel is thinking of escaping for a time the cold winter months still to come, the thoughts of a Southern sojourn are very attractive. THE GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU is prepared to furnish them with literature and information which will assist in making plans for their departure to a milder climate.

Particularly is this true of a trip to Florida and there is plenty of material free to every one regarding a trip to that state at the GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU.

RECALL PETITIONS REJECTED AS WHOLE BY THE CITY CLERK

Not One Out of Forty-Three Passed Muster—Amendment Requires Filing New Papers.

Rejection of the petitions for a recall election was complete in spite of the impression received by some citizens that 554 signatures out of the 615 required had been found to be valid. It is true that 554 were found to be the names of legal and qualified electors but this fact does not mean matters for out of the forty-three petitions filed, not one passed muster; all were thrown out as insufficient and not drawn up in accordance with the requirements of the law. To make possible the calling of a recall election it will be necessary to file a complete set of new petitions with the 615 signatures necessary, and the election can be for the purpose of electing but one commissioner or the mayor.

City Clerk Hammarlund desires to refute the statement attributed to him to the effect that he said names had been added to the petitions after the polls had been taken as to their correctness. In his own language, correctly stated in the Gazette Saturday evening, he said:

"I find the three petitions insufficient for the reason that the dates upon which all the petitions were sworn appear to be prior to the dates upon which they were signed by the petitioners. This appears to be true of all the petitions except one."

Various other reasons were found for declaring the petitions illegal. In the case of one sheet the person who verified it was not a signer thereon. In another the person making verification did not circulate the petition, is not acquainted with the persons who signed it, and cannot swear to the genuineness of the signatures. He signed the affidavit without being sworn. Another affiant admitted he did not circulate the petition and as he refused to answer any questions concerning it, it was rejected. In another instance the affiant did not swear to the charges in the caption as he knew nothing of them. He seemed to be of the opinion that he merely signed the affidavit to the best of his belief.

The insufficiency of these sheets is due to the fact that the affiant did not have the knowledge for by law, and no attestation of the signature of the affiant is required. The clerk was unable to get into touch with men who verified fourteen of the sheets and these were held as insufficient on the advice of the city attorney. Out of the twenty-nine sheets he investigated personally he found but four that were executed in compliance with the law, and felt warranted in rejecting the balance on the theory that the affiants on these sheets signed under the same advice given to the affiants on the sheets personally investigated.

EXTRA COPIES OF THE REVIEW EDITION

Many telephone and mail orders for the Gazette's Review and Chronological edition on December 31st, have been received and arrangements have been made with the first press run on the edition, which started this morning, to care for that demand and to anticipate as nearly as possible the orders which will come to the office for them today and tomorrow. To make sure of your extra copies you should telephone or write at once. They can be mailed from this office if you prefer. Price 5c per copy; six for 25c.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

K. C.'s to Make Merry: The Knights of Columbus will hold their annual New Year's eve reception and dance for members and their families. Tuesday night at I. O. O. F. hall. Entertainment will be provided for old as well as young and a good time is assured.

Great Dane Dog Dies: Roscoe, the great Dane dog who has been in the family of Carl Child of La Prairie for so many years, is dead. He was a very intelligent animal and will be sorely missed.

Watch Night Social: A Watch Night social and service will be held at the First Baptist church New Year's eve, commencing at 8:30 o'clock. O. N. Hazen will hold open house at the parsonage from three to five o'clock in the afternoon. All church people and friends are invited to attend.

Church Service: A New Year's prayer and praise service will be held at Carrell Memorial Methodist church at 9:30 o'clock on the morning of New Year's day.

Receive Proposals: Proposals to sell the city a motor-propelled combination chemical and hose wagon were received today by the City Clerk from the Ahrens-Fox Fire Engine Company of Cincinnati, and from the Robinson Fire Apparatus Manufacturing Company of St. Louis. The bids will be opened at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

No Drunks in Court: No drunks were arrested yesterday or arraigned in the Municipal Court this morning. The police welcome the clamping down of the "lid" in South Janesville, as heretofore many who become intoxicated there came to this city and made trouble for them as well as gave the impression that they obtained liquor from Janesville saloons.

Brotherhood Meeting: Members of the Otterbein Brotherhood of the United Brethren Church will hold their regular meeting tonight.

Meeting Postponed: The regular meeting of the Eastern Star Study class has been postponed from next Thursday until a week from Thursday when they will meet with Mrs. Nuzum.

Members of Bower City Lodge, No. 31, G. U. C., are requested to meet at the funeral of John Zerbel at the home on North River street, Wednesday, Jan. 1, at 1:30 p. m.

ELOPERS CAPTURED BUT MAY BE WEDDED

Miss Blanche Simmons and Harry Wilbur Brought Back Unmarried But Obtain Mrs. Simmons Consent.

Although successful in escaping Milwaukee and eluding the officers on their trail for a week, Miss Blanche Simmons, fifteen and Harry Wilbur, twenty years of age, were discovered at Edgerton Saturday where they were placed under arrest and brought to this city that evening. On their arrival here they were met by Miss Simmons' mother and Chief of Police Appleby and taken to the police station. Wilbur was locked up but Miss Simmons was at the request of her mother, left in her custody. This morning Mrs. Simmons stated that she would consent to the marriage of her daughter and if Wilbur's father approves the match, the two would be elopers will be wedded at once. Since Wilbur is a minor, and his father is in the Soldiers' Home at Milwaukee, it will be necessary for the elder Wilbur to give his consent to the marriage in writing, attested by the signatures of two witnesses. The police will keep in the custody of the couple had evidently spent all their money in Milwaukee and were visiting friends in Edgerton when arrested. Wilbur denied going to Milwaukee for any other purpose than to visit his father. His sweetheart wishing to accompany him, he did not have the heart to refuse her. He was very much broken up when he heard that he would have to be locked up, but his sweetheart, who had returned from the metropolis with a big new picture hat and white blouse was not in the least discomfited by the turn of events, and talked freely with the officers of her stay in Milwaukee.

WILL MAKE A FIGHT TO SUBMIT RECALL TO POPULAR VOTE

Leaders of Recall Discuss Several Means of Overcoming Objections to Papers Raised By City Clerk's Report.

Either the decision of City Clerk Hammarlund will be accepted, throwing out the forty-three recall petitions, as not conforming to the law, or his decision will be tested by court action in the latest phase of the recall fight in this city.

Former District Attorney John L. Fisher and James M. Clancy of Stoughton, were to go over the petitions today very carefully and after they reach their decision on what action to take, confer with the committee of twelve having charge of the recall campaign to make final decision. City Clerk Hammarlund's decision that all the petitions were faulty although but a hundred and forty odd names were found to be absolutely with no standing on the lists, means, if sustained, that in order to call a recall election, entirely new lists must be filed. It, however, is decided to take issue with this decision and by filing an additional list with sufficient names to make up the required number under the law it is probable that court action will be started at once.

John C. Nichols, candidate for mayor on the recall ticket, stated this morning that they were prepared to fight it out now and would either file the additional number of names or new petitions and was confident that sufficient names could be obtained. He suggested legal action might be taken, if necessary.

H. L. Maxfield, before whom the petitions were sworn to as notary, and who was one of the three to file them with the city clerk, stated this morning that they were prepared to take the necessary steps to bring the matter before the people. The latter left for Madison, where it is understood he went to get legal advice on the question at issue as to the legality of the present papers.

Bower City Lodge No. 335, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, will give their 24th annual ball at Assembly hall, Tuesday evening, Dec. 31st. Hall decorated by Amer. Martin, J. C. Morse, C. A. Yates, W. H. Coan. All those who have attended former parties are cordially invited.—Advertisement.

WILL FINISH SLICING
LATE PRESENT WEEK

End of the Run of Sugar Will Be Next Week—Have Been Working Three Months.
On Friday next the Rock County sugar company will have finished the slicing of the fifty-six thousand tons of sugar beets and within a week from that date will have finished their manufacture of sugar for the present season. The factory began operations on October 10, and will have had practically three months' operation, night and day, since starting. Three hundred and twenty-five men have been on the pay roll and roughly estimated some fifty thousand dollars in wages have been paid out. Approximately three hundred thousand dollars was paid the growers and 11, 200,000 pounds of sugar manufactured. Thus far the company has not prepared its contracts for the coming season, preferring to wait for a few days until something more definite can be learned of the tariff policies to be followed out by the democratic majority in congress. The local factory was recently visited by a delegation of sugar beet growers of Racine and Kenosha counties, representing growers who have sold to a rival factory, who wished to talk over next year's contracts. The matter was gone into thoroughly but no decisions reached and the field men for the local factory will wait some days before starting out after new contracts.

"Wise-acre."
"Wise-acre" has its origin in Ben Jonson's retort to a countryman who boasted interminably of his acres, till Ben said: "What signify to us your dirt and your clods? Where you have an acre of land I have ten acres of wit." The countryman retorted by calling Ben "Good Mr. Wise-acre."
This is a good story, but perhaps the term wise-acre comes from the corruption of the German, weissager, a wisesayer.

Copying Our Games.
France would compete with us in baseball, and now Sweden comes to study American intercollegiate football, planning to introduce the art of punts and mass plays up toward the northern lights. American sports are becoming internationalized. Is the course of empire now taking an eastward course, and will our diamond and our gridiron become, like our government, the admiration of older nations?

And Put Dishes in It.
Our only fear of a woman in the president's cabinet is that she would put scalloped paper on its shelves.—

COLD WAVE COMING
EARLY IN JANUARY

Foster Bureau Gives Out Predictions
for First Part of Coming Month.
(Copyrighted 1913 by W. T. Foster.)
Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent Dec.
7 to 11, warm wave 3 to 10, cool wave 9 to 13. This storm wave will average cooler than usual but its warm wave will bring one or two days of warmer than usual weather.
Not much precipitation east of Rockies. Some local snows in northern sections and cold rains in southern parts east of Rockies. Precipitation will be heavier west of the Rocky ridge.
Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about Jan. 12, cross Pacific slope by close of 13, great central valleys 14 to 16, eastern sections 17.
Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about Jan. 12, great central valleys 14, eastern sections 16. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about Jan.
15, great central valleys 17, eastern sections 19.
Temperatures of this disturbance will average about normal but the cool wave preceding it will be much colder than the cold wave following it. Not much precipitation east of Rockies. About normal precipitation west of Rocky ridge. At that time a great high temperature and severe storm wave will be on north Pacific slope, Alaska moving eastward.
Next bulletin will tell more about it.
That storm wave will be of interest and you should not fail to read about it and be prepared for it.
During the crop season of 1913
some parts of crop growing sections of this continent east of the Rocky ridge will suffer with severe drought and a serious question presents itself to every farmer, planter and truck grower.
It is well known and admitted fact that sufficient precipitation occurs every year to produce good crops if the moisture could be held in the soil. That problem must be solved. Where the soil is very deep and not resting on clay the soil will absorb the moisture, take care of itself and there seems to be no remedy against severe droughts except irrigation ditches. All sections where these deep soils predominate and where the 1913 droughts are expected should get their irrigation ditches in shape for business.
But the thinner soils that rest on beds of clay have other remedies.
Agriculturists are generally favorable to deep fall plowing and that method is fair, particularly for flat lands. But there are difficulties which are not overcome by that method. Deep plowing in clay lands is not easily accomplished and on rolling lands the washing away of fall plowed soils is a serious dam-

TO OPEN NEW DEPOT
WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Northwestern Officials Extend Invitation to Citizens to Inspect Station at That Time.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, Dec. 30.—The new depot will be open for inspection next Wednesday night, Jan. 1st, from 8:00 to 9:30 p. m. The division superintendent, Mr. E. E. Nash and wife, also other officials, will be here and will be glad to meet the citizens of Evansville. A cordial invitation is extended to everybody to be present.

Entertained Class.
A most enjoyable time resulted for all present when the graduating class of nineteen twelve were entertained by Miss Belle Green at the home of her brother, Walter Green and wife of this city. Of the class of twenty-one only eleven have been to the present for various reasons, but those present fully enjoyed themselves and determined on another reunion next year. The evening was spent in progressive games.

Brief Local News.
H. R. Houle of Edgerton and William Pope of Orono, Ia., were holiday guests at the home of W. R.

A. M. Van Wormer is visiting today in Brodhead.

J. F. Houton has returned to his home in Duluth after a visit here.
Walter Hopkins of Delavan is visiting local relatives.
Miss Winnie Pellay, Beloit, is here

age.
If, instead of trying to run a plow through clay lands 8 to 12 inches deep, you could punch holes into the clay 12 or more inches deep in the fall or early spring, those holes would hold the moisture and you would avoid the washing away of your plowed up soil.
But there is no machine for that purpose and if this method is found to be practical some one must invent the machine. A three wheeled vehicle, one big, heavy wheel in the middle and one on each side to hold the big wheel in place. The iron pins, like harrow teeth 12 to 14 inches long, two inches in diameter at the shoulder, tapering to a point, jointed or hinged near where they fasten to the big wheel so that as the wheel turns gravity will keep pins perpendicular in order that they go straight down into the soil and pull not oblong hole, would seem to answer the purpose. It should be made for two horses.

Be Observed.

On Wednesday, January 1, the new parcels post system will be inaugurated in this city at the local postoffice, in accordance with plans made by the postoffice department, following the passage of the bill authorizing it, for the establishment of the system throughout the country. Postmaster C. L. Valentine, in a statement today, calls the attention of the public to certain rules which are to govern the system. His statement is as follows:

"Ordinary stamps, now used on fourth class packages, cannot be used for postage on fourth class matter, and the distinctive parcels post stamps must be used on all fourth class mail matter, beginning January 1, 1913. Such matter bearing ordinary stamps will be treated as 'Held

An Open Letter to the Citizens and Tax Payers of Janesville

You are About to Purchase
Some Automobile Fire Apparatus and it is but Natural that You Desire the Best Your Money Will Buy.

YOU WOULD NOT BUY A PAIR OF HORSES without having a Veterinary examine them very carefully and give you his assurance that they are sound in limb and wind and of a suitable age.

YOU WOULD NOT BUY A PIECE OF REAL ESTATE without having the title searched and being assured you are to get a clear title, etc.

WHY NOT EXERCISE THE SAME PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES in the selection of your Fire Apparatus? The Apparatus you are buying now should last you fifteen or twenty years and will, if it is of the latest design and construction.

THERE ARE EXPERTS IN JANESVILLE, TAXPAYERS OF YOUR CITY,
WHO ARE abundantly well qualified to judge the merits of an automobile, motor truck or gas engine. Motor Fire Apparatus, except the pumping engines, is or, rather should be, nothing more than a thoroughly high grade motor truck with sufficient power to take its load to any part of your city at a speed consistent with your ideas, plus the chemical and fire fighting equipment. Because a gas engine is rated by its manufacturers as having a certain Horse Power is no assurance that the power necessary to propel that vehicle up hill and down dale will be delivered to the driving wheels. Some designers waste more than half the engine's power in transferring that power from the motor to the driving wheels—Adolph Saurer, of Bonne, Switzerland, has been building motor trucks for 18 years—his trucks have been subsidized by the war departments of several European countries and have won first prizes in every motor truck contest ever held—he builds 4 1/2 and 6 ton sizes and uses a 4 1/2 x 5 1/2 4 cylinder motor in both sizes. The Stegeman more nearly approaches the Saurer design than any truck on the market.

THE CITY OF MILWAUKEE HAS RECENTLY BOUGHT A COMBINA-TION CHEMICAL AND HOSE wagon that has been pronounced "by Mechanical Engineers and Expert Fire Fighters, the most perfect piece of apparatus of its kind that has ever been built. It carries 15 men, trained fire fighters who comprise the Flying Squadron, 50 gallons Chemicals, 300 ft. of Chemical Hose and 700 ft. of regulation fire hose in addition to axes, picks, ladder and all the necessary paraphernalia. With its full equipment this rig has shown a speed of fifty miles per hour—it turns corners at 20 miles per hour without skidding, ON A WET PAVEMENT, and it climbs all of Milwaukee's hills on the high gear. This car covers more than half the city—it answers 350 of the city's 719 boxes.

YOU ARE OFFERED A DUPLICATE OF THE ABOVE modified to suit your requirements for $4950.00—we promise you delivery within 90 days from receipt of your order and we, manufacturing in your own state and only a few miles from Janesville, will give you a GUARANTEE FOR THREE YEARS, said guarantee including tires. Any part of our apparatus that gives out, or wears out within three years will be replaced free of charge.

WHO KNOWS SUCH A PIECE OF MACHINERY BEST—THE MANUFAC-TURER OF THE PURCHASER? If the manufacturer refuses to give you such an assurance that his apparatus will give you satisfactory service for that length of time, it is either because he dare not do it or feels that he can get your business without assuming that responsibility.

WE ASSURE YOU THAT EVERY PIECE OF METAL entering into the construction of the Stegeman Combination Chemical & Hose Wagon is the very best, for its use, that is obtainable; that our design has the approval of the best mechanical engineers in America and that the workmanship is of the highest grade.

OUR PRICE OF $4950.00 GIVES US JUST A FAIR Manufacturer's profit and you cannot buy a superior piece of apparatus at any price. Furthermore, as we are local manufacturers we are more conscientiously interested in a sister city than any outside manufacturer can possibly be.

PLAN REVISIONS OF THE RECALL SYSTEM

Next Legislature Will Have This Problem to Solve Among Many Others of Similar Nature.

Just at this time the following report of what is to be done by the coming legislature relative to the amendments to the present recall provisions in the state laws, will be found most of interest. To Janesville, just now with the legal phase of the problem still undecided, it is especially interesting.

A new application of the recall will be attempted at this session of the legislature. Heretofore such a law has been proposed as applying to elective officials. At this session a bill will be proposed which will apply the recall feature to all important appointive officials, especially the members of the railroad, industrial and tax commissions.

As now drafted the bill will permit

a recall of these appointive officials, either by the legislature or by the people direct. It is proposed that up on a petition of 25 percent of the number of voters who voted at the last gubernatorial election the question of the recall of the official designated must be submitted to a vote of all of the people of the state at a special election. An official may also be recalled by the legislature upon a two-thirds vote of both houses voting separately.

In order that the recall may not be abused as applying to the appointive officials it is proposed in the bill which will come before the legislature that the recall can be applied to the same official only once in every two years. The scheme was first suggested in a book on the "Wisconsin Idea" written by Dr. Charles McCarthy of the legislative reference library. He argues that the reason for appointing these members of the big governmental commissions is because of their expert knowledge of the subjects that will come for consideration. Opposition to state government commissions has sprung up, because it is claimed that the people have no control over him, inasmuch as they are not elective officials.

BUSINESS PHILOSOPHY Only An Opportunity Needed

The local merchant has his money invested in your town and should be given at least an opportunity to figure on your trade.

By Thomas J. Sullivan, Copyrighted 1912 by National Business Publicity Association.

All the merchants, local and otherwise, in the entire country, are desirous of increasing and extending their business, and if they did not care to do this they would not be in business.

It is doubtful if there is a local retailer in the country who could not successfully cope with the mail order and catalogue retailer, would he but try. This the local merchant may not know but nevertheless it is a fact.

It is generally understood that the catalogue houses are not in business for the pleasure of it. When they make sales they make a profit, except in rare cases where they advertise "specials" simply to induce trade their way. This practice of advertising "special" articles or "leaders," is the method which is adopted by the five and ten cent stores.

Visit any of these stores and you will find on the 10 cent counters articles that cost more than they are retailing for. Many of these articles generally retail for from 25 to 50 cents; to offset this evident loss there will be found on the same counter articles that cost two and three cents each. Therefore the profit on the latter more than makes up for the loss on the expensive articles which are sold at a sacrifice.

This is the method practiced by the catalogue retailer.

Should you take your catalogue to your local retailer and ask him to make an investigation concerning the goods you want to buy, if he is an up-to-date retailer he will know the real quality of the goods advertised in the catalogue and should you insist on buying that class of goods he no doubt will be able to get them for you at the same price.

There is a retail firm in a town in Wisconsin who conspicuously display upon their counter one of the catalogues of the largest Chicago mail order houses upon the cover of which is pasted a notice that they will furnish any article advertised in the catalogue as cheaply as the buyer can secure the articles from Chicago, and they live up to this advertised statement to the very letter.

The substantial local merchant knows well that the cheap stores sold by the catalogue houses are light weight stoves; that the iron beds shown in the advertised matter as massive frames with strong corner posts and heavy cross bars are light frail castings more commonly known to the trade as seconds; that no honest or reliable furniture dealer would keep in his stock because he could not sell them to people who were given an opportunity to inspect the goods before purchasing.

It is only on very rare occasions that the patrons of a mail order house ever get the worth of his money when he buys from the pictures in the catalogue. While on the other hand, the local retailer, if he understands his business and he usually does, buys his stock direct from the manufacturers and jobbers who have a reputation at stake and who supply goods of quality to their direct representatives—the retail merchants.

The responsible, high grade manufacturer and wholesaler will not under any condition or circumstance, sell their goods to the catalogue retailer at any price. Many instances are known where catalogue houses secure by trickery a quantity of staple articles of standard make and advertise them as "specials" at ridiculously low prices. The manufacturer, in order to protect their reputation and interests, necessarily had orders sent in for the entire stock or quantity of the articles through persons in their employ.

This was done, of course, in order to preserve their reputation. They did not propose to have their articles, which were standard, advertised by the side of inferior articles of light weight and cheap construction.

There are numberless articles which the catalogue houses advertise as the best on the market, among which are paints, and they often agree to furnish an impossible guarantee with this class of goods. However, it is very noticeable that they never attempt to ship their paints into states that require a printed copy of the analysis of the contents on the package. The answer to this, of course, is, the goods are not as represented in their catalogue. The up-to-date local merchant, of course, is conversant with these facts and can explain them to his customers if given an opportunity, and he can also if he understands his business thoroughly, explain the vast difference between the quality of the goods sold by the catalogue house and those sold by him.

The cheap, flashy, flimsy article, can never stand along side of the honest, reliable article without challenging an explanation.

The business men who cannot meet this demand upon them is not up-to-date, and his education regarding the line of goods they carry should be touched up. If the consumers are awake and alive to their own interests they can begin to educate the merchants by demanding from them (the local merchant) the information concerning the difference in the quality of his goods and the goods of the catalogue retailer. If he is unable to explain he will also be unable to render efficient service to his customers.

It is time that merchants of this type wake up to the situation.

cers. The proposed recall is aimed to do away with this objection. The constitutional amendments providing for the initiative, referendum and recall will come before the legislature for final passage this winter. These amendments were passed by the session two years ago, but the constitution requires that they be passed by two successive legislatures before they can be submitted to a vote of the people. Opposition is promised in some sections to these changes.

MAJOR MILTMORE DEAD AT PASADENA

Funeral of Former Janesville Man and Uncle of Commissioner Miltimore Buried December 21.

Major Claron I. Miltimore, an uncle of Commissioner Chauncey K. Miltimore of this city, veteran of the Civil War, and member of the John S. Godfrey Post at Pasadena, California, died at his residence in that city on December 20, after a brief illness. His funeral was held the following day under the auspices of the G. A. R., and his remains laid to rest in the Mountain View cemetery.

Major Miltimore was born in Chicago, November 28, 1841. His father, Ira Miltimore was the first civil engineer of that city. After founding a school of importance, and serving the city in other official capacities, he moved with his family to Janesville, Wis., when his son, Claron, was four or five years old. Here Claron passed his childhood and youth.

In 1861 came the call to arms and Claron, fired with patriotic zeal, desired to go to the front. His mother, having given her husband to the country's service, was not reconciled to parting with her son. Like many brave mothers of that day, she was a woman of faith, and felt the call to sacrifice, so after meditation and prayer, she gave her consent, sewed a little silk flag of her own making on the inner left side of his military coat, and sent him to the front, where his father was. This little flag he wore over his heart all through the war.

Major Miltimore enlisted in the Twenty-second Wisconsin volunteer infantry, but served the greater part of the four years as lieutenant-colonel of the Thirty-seventh Wisconsin volunteers, and was in command of the regiment. He was in the heat of many battles, and was badly wounded in the battle before Petersburg. He carried the bullets in his body for the rest of his life.

He had many interesting and thrilling tales to tell of army life, including one short but eventful experience in a Southern prison. He possessed a number of war relics, chief among them which is the torn coat he wore when shot; a cane made from the top of a cedar tree severed by shot at the Stone river battle, as he stood under it; also he kept a sword which he had taken from a rebel general. He was personally acquainted with Lincoln, Seward, Grant and many of the great statesmen and warriors of his day.

He was prisoner at Libby during a short time. He was an efficient re-constructor at Chicago, after the great fire.

He was physically and morally a brave man and of a kind and affectionate disposition and merry-hearted.

On July 26, 1876, Major Miltimore married Miss Ruth L. Story, and two years later they moved to South Dakota. Here he was elected to the territorial legislature in 1895, and to the state legislature in 1901. He went to Pasadena in 1907, where he has since resided.

He leaves a widow and cousin in Pasadena, a nephew in Janesville, Wis., and a host of loving friends, who will feel his loss.

GOVERNMENT SOIL SURVEY WORK IN WISCONSIN, 1912.

1,938 Square Miles of Detailed Work Done in Six Counties.

During the fiscal year of 1912, the bureau of soils, United States Department of Agriculture did 1,938 square miles of detailed soil work in the state of Wisconsin, bringing the total amount of detailed soil survey work done in the state by the bureau of soils to 8,452 square miles. 251 square miles of reconnaissance work was done in the state, bringing a total of such work performed by the bureau in the state to 1,396 square miles. The detailed soil survey work done during the year 1912 was performed in Buffalo, Columbia, Dane, Jefferson, Juneau and Kewaunee counties, and the reconnaissance survey work in the northeastern area.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

THE MAIL CARRIER.

The mail carrier is a human dray with a self-dumping attachment and a full set of calloused feet. He leads a slothful life of luxurious ease, for all he has to do is to walk thirty miles a day with 120 pounds of love letters, free garden seeds and uplift magazines on his back.

Mail carriers are chosen as the result of a physical examination which begins with their feet and ends in the same locality. A mail carrier may be shouder- - bound, t o n g u e - tied, sway backed and pigeon - chested, but if he has a pair of sound, n o n - slidding feet, which d o not coaxed along with bunion cures, he will pass the civil service examination with a high rating. A mail carrier with a limp is harder to find than a minister of the gospel with money in the bank.

Mail carriers are not allowed to smoke, eat, converse or think while engaged in the performance of their duties. They are not even allowed to read the postcards or try to figure out why Bernice calls for her mail at the general delivery. Their life is very sad.

When off duty the mail carrier has his shoes half-soled and puts his feet in some quiet place where the pavement cannot rise up and hit them. Whenever the mail carrier makes a mistake, he is bawled with the utmost enthusiasm by everybody who can get to him and called everything from a government hireling to a wooden-headed, dub who ought to hire out as chamber maid in a traction engine.

During the holiday season the mail carrier is obliged to add on a couple of upper decks and invest in new rubber tires for his feet. When a carrier is loaded up for the Christmas morning delivery, a near-sighted person won't be able to tell him from a two-legged furniture van, yet if he is fifteen minutes late he can hear people in the flat on the sixth floor blaspheming in all the colors of the rainbow.

When the parcels post gets well under way, mail carriers will not be able to get any insurance except the plate glass variety. He will have to deliver everything from Barred Plymouth Rock hens to baby grand pianos, and he will do it without a murmur.

Heart to Heart Talks. By EDWIN A. NYE.

THE HUMAN BRUTE.

A lean, worn team of horses was hitched to a heavy truck filled with coal.

The tired animals thrust their necks into the collars and strained hard to keep the load moving. The street led up a sharp incline. There had been a slight snow, and the street was slippery.

The load was heavy enough without a hill to contend with. There must have been hard hearts at the coal yard where this truck was loaded.

The team tried to get a start up the hill and failed.

The driver brought his heavy whip down on the backs of the poor brutes. They lunged forward, straining at the tugs. Their feet slipped. One went down, and the harness dragged the other one off his feet.

And the driver?

Without asking help from any one in getting the animals to their feet he deliberately got down from his high perch and as deliberately gave each of the prostrate horses a kick in the ribs.

The coward!

He who kicks a horse when it is helpless is as mean as he who kicks a man when he is down. And it is as brutal to kick a horse without provocation as to kick a man without provocation. Only there is this difference—

The horse cannot fight back.

The driver of that team would think twice before he mistreated a man. He might cheerish a wholesome fear of getting what was coming to him. But the horse was effectually tied up in harness and defenseless.

In this case I telephoned for a humane officer.

A few weeks before I had been in the seat of the boss hostler of a big circus. I asked him concerning the treatment of the fine, sleek horses under his charge.

"Kind treatment only.

"If a hostler mistreats a horse by beating or kicking he gets his time and is promptly discharged. I will not even permit my horses to be spoken to harshly."

Some of the owners of Kentucky thoroughbreds are almost as particular concerning the treatment of their fine horses as about the treatment of their children.

Only a human brute will maltreat a dumb brute.

It is a great pity that in every such case of cruelty a like treatment cannot be accorded the human brute.

Cheerful Men Succeed.

The men whom I have seen succeed best in life have been cheerful and hopeful men, who went about their business with a smile on their faces, and took the changes of this mortal life like men, facing rough and smooth alike as it came.—Charles Kingsley.

Warning to Beer Drinkers

Read every word in this opinion. Remember it is not our statement, but the deliberate opinion of a great scientist working for perfection in beer.

Pure beer is food and tonic.

G. Beck (Bierbrauer, 1881, No. 8) finds that

"beer in light bottles deteriorates more quickly than beer in dark bottles when exposed to the direct sunlight."

His tests were continued for three weeks and proved that beer in light bottles had acquired a very disagreeable, nasty taste and flavor and was unfit for consumption.

The Brown Bottle with Schlitz is not a fad. Its use is based on scientific principles.

We have adopted every idea, every invention, every innovation that could make for purity.

Schlitz is sent to you in Brown Bottles to protect its purity from the brewery to your glass.

"FRANK WINNINGER"

Frank Winninger made a trip to New York last summer and was surprised at the large number of musical plays which were not being used. After a run in the big cities, they had been relegated to the shelf. He figures that several of these plays could be produced and a top price of 50 cents secured for the same, and a company of 25 people could be employed.

ried. Mr. Winninger contemplates this attraction for next season. This season he is appearing at the head of his own company, playing such well known successes as "The Man Who Stood Still," "A Stranger from Berlin," "Our German Senator," etc.

The organization will appear at Myers' Theatre December 30, matinee on New Year's, Saturday and Sunday.

Dust Laying in England.

The highway department of the city of Leeds, England, has recently treated portions of a macadam roadway with granular calcium chloride to combat the dust. Solutions of the latter had previously been tried at greater cost and without such satisfactory results. The road is first well swept and two applications of the chloride are made on succeeding evenings of about one-half pound per yard.

Exercise.

There may be courtesy, there may be even temper and wit and talent and sparkling conversation, there may be good will, even, and yet the humanest and divinest faculties pine for exercise.—Thoreau.

New Year Resolutions

THE business girl who never knows what becomes of her money can resolve to keep an expense account. She'll find it interesting and surprising reading.

The woman who never knows what becomes of her time can resolve to plan out her day. If she will plan her day hour by hour, and resolve what each hour shall accomplish, she will be amazed at the results that method will bring, and disgusted at having trifled so in the past.

The person who is careless in his dress can resolve to give a little more thought and attention to his appearance. It will pay. He may be a genius. He may be a person of most admirable character. But before he has opened his mouth, before he has done a single thing to show his worth, people have already formed an opinion of him by his appearance. And if his teeth are unacquainted with a brush, if his finger-nails are grimy, if his collar would be the better for a visit to the laundry, if his clothes are unbrushed, his shoes unpolished, his genius and his admirable character have a heavy handicap in winning the recognition they should.

The wife who hasn't the same sense of humor as her husband can resolve for the sake of harmony in the household not to inflict her humor upon him at inopportune times. If he is not in the frame of mind to see her joke, let her not insist upon applying its point.

The girl who has a good mother can resolve to represent this mother worthily. She should reflect honestly what her mother has taught her; or else, she is being unjust to this mother who has given the best of her life to embody in the daughter all that is good and true.

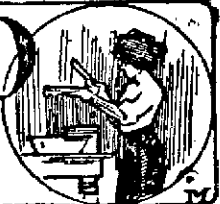

The debutante can resolve to throw her influence to maintaining high standards in her social circle.

For that matter, there isn't one of us who can't resolve to do something to make our little corner of the world fairer, those with whom we come into contact, happier, and ourselves nearer that ideal that stirs faintly or strongly within us.

Let's all do it, and the millennium will move a notch nearer.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Things Worth Knowing.

Salt and peppers out of rat hepatica bottles—the lids are aluminum, will not rust or corrode; can easily be washed. I punch holes with a thin wire nail. The large sizes are nice for cooking. The small ones for the table.

For Chills—Try painting with iodine; will give instant relief. Mrs. F. J. M.

When ironing neckband on shirts or shirtwaists, put your finger under buttonhole in center of band; will save annoyance when trying to put in the collar button.

Puddings.

Instead of chopping suet for puddings, take two or three pounds of firm suet, render it in moderate oven (slowly), then pour the liquid fat into bowl of cold water. When set the suet will be an appetizing white cake, which will shred easily, and warm fingers will soon blend it with the flour.

Hen's Nest Pudding—Five egg-sized eggs, make hole in one end, empty shells, fill with blanc mange; when thoroughly stiff and cold take off shells. Pare yellow rind from six lemons, boil rind in water until tender; with scissors cut in thin strips to resemble straw, and preserve them with sugar.

Fill small, deep dish half full of nice jelly; when set, put lemon rind on in form of a nest and lay eggs in it. This will please the little ones. Serve with whipped cream seasoned with any preferred flavoring.

Jam Pudding—One cup brown sugar, half cup butter, one cup flour, one cup blackberry jam, three tablespoons sour cream, one scant teaspoon soda, three eggs beaten separately. Mix into batter and bake in rather quick oven. Serve hot or cold with lemon sauce or cream.

Farina Pudding—Bring a pint of milk and water to boil, add teaspoon of salt, about two cups farina. Boil five minutes, stand aside to cool. Beat up three egg yolks and half cup of powdered sugar, a little nutmeg, lump of butter size of walnut; lastly, beat egg whites to a stiff froth, fold in and turn into buttered pudding dish and bake slowly half an hour. Serve with cream or powdered sugar.

Yankee Plum Pudding—Cream one cup suet, add one cup New Orleans molasses, sift together three cups of flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon cloves, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, and one-half teaspoon salt. Add to first mixture alternately with one cup sweet milk, one cup hickory nut meats. Enough flour should be reserved to dredge raisins and nuts. Mix well and steam in buttered mold three hours. Serve with brandy or sour sauce.

Lemon Sauce for Plum or Cherry Pudding—Three-fourths cup sugar, one-half cup butter, one egg, juice and half the grated rind of one lemon, one-half teaspoon nutmeg, one-half cup boiling water. Cream and butter, then beat egg light and put in this, then add lemon, nutmeg and water; cook slowly in double boiler until it thickens; serve hot. Will keep three or four weeks in cool place.

The Table.

Good Mexican Dish—Cook one pound spaghetti in salt water 20 minutes, then drain, add one quart tomatoes and set on stove so as to keep them hot. Put one pound of beef through meat grinder, fry in hot butter, stir with fork to get it in small pieces, add chopped onion, mix with spaghetti and tomatoes season well with salt and pepper, simmer 15 minutes. If green peppers are liked add one cut fine. Serve hot. This is fine, and will serve seven or more people.

Substitute for Meat—Cook one pound macaroni in boiling water until tender. Then place in buttered baking dish first a layer of macaroni then cheese, seasoning with salt, pepper and butter. Take two eggs well beaten, add cup of sweet milk and pour over top of macaroni. Bake about one-half hour, or until a nice brown.

server fruits; candied cherries and pistachio nuts may be used, and a bit of the green nuts and red cherries placed on top before they harden. Panocha.

Material—Brown sugar, 4 c.; butter, 2 t.; pecan nuts, 1-2 pt.; milk, 1 c. Utensils—Saucepan, measuring cup, wooden spoon.

Put sugar, milk and butter over the fire. Stir until the sugar is dissolved, boil until a soft ball is formed. Add the nuts, broken and begin to stir. When it begins to thicken when dropped in cold water turn quickly into greased shallow pan and cool. Spread thin and cut into squares or oblongs.

The KITCHEN CABINET

IT IS no great matter to associate with the good and gentle, for this is naturally pleasing to all. But to be able to live peacefully with persons and disorders or with such as go contrary to us, is a great grace and a most commendable and manly thing. —Thomas A. Kempis.

A FEW SALADS.

The season of the year is not a handicap to variety in salads, for one may use canned vegetables and fruits with nearly as satisfactory results.

Pea and Walnut Salad.—Take equal quantities of cold cooked peas and English walnuts broken into bits, season well with French dressing, and let stand an hour, then serve on lettuce leaves or in lemon cups with mayonnaise dressing.

Onion Salad.—Peel a large Spanish onion, soak in water until crisp, then chop and mix with a tablespoonful of chopped parsley. Serve with French dressing in tomato cups.

Potato and Nut Salad.—Take three cold boiled potatoes, three hard cooked eggs, a half cup of walnut meats and a dozen olives. Cut the potatoes in dice, add the nuts broken in bits and the olives cut fine. Mix well and season with French dressing. Just before serving add a little mayonnaise.

Cabbage shredded and mixed with a green pepper or two and a few walnuts dressed with a cooked dressing is very good for variety.

Vienna Salad.—Take equal parts of finely cut celery and diced apple with a shredded pepper. A little fresh red pepper shredded adds to the beauty of it.

Chestnut Salad.—This is a most delicious salad, if carefully prepared. Cook the chestnuts until soft (after blanching them) in a little chicken broth; season with salt and use double the quantity of finely cut celery and serve with a boiled dressing.

Cooked oysters, with twice as much celery, and any desired dressing is an appetizing salad for those who like oysters.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist.

TONSILS, PROTEIDS, SUGARS.

It is unwise, Dr. MacKenzie of Johns Hopkins university says, to remove the tonsils, except in rare cases. He says that the use of the tonsils is not known, and that there is no warrant for the assumption that they are useless. The same may be said of the appendix.

Tissier of the Pasteur Institute has proved that animal proteids are twice as putrescible as vegetable proteids, and are, therefore, in one important particular, greatly inferior to vegetable proteids. It is true that the vegetable proteids are less completely digested, but this objection to vegetable protein is far outweighed by the fact that ptomaine poisoning and auto-intoxication follow much more commonly from the use of animal proteins.

It has been decided by the food department at Washington that saccharine, a substitute for sugar, is injurious, and it has therefore been placed upon the forbidden list. Many objections have been urged against cane sugar, and saccharine has been used as a substitute. But the best supply of sugar is the sugar fruits—prunes, dates, figs, and especially the raisin and grape.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

HOW WE WOULD MOULD OUR LIVES.

"OH, DEAR! Things never seem to go smoothly for me," I heard a woman say one day. "I wonder what I have done to deserve to have such a troubled existence."

I think she should have said, "I wonder what I am," rather than "what have I done." For she is one of those restless, excitable, ill-poised people for whom it is next to impossible that things SHOULD go smoothly.

How few of us are willing to recognize the fact that our temperaments help to shape our lives and make the conditions in which we live.

And yet how largely they do!

"There is a Divinity that shapes our ends, rough-hew them-how we will," has always been a favorite quotation with the sons and daughters of men,—I suppose because it so pleasantly shifts the responsibility from our unwilling shoulders and dumps it down on a vague personage who cannot very well refuse it.

The woman who was bewailing her troubled existence preferred to blame an angry Providence for her condition, rather than to look for the seat of it in her stormy petrel disposition; and yet right there she would have found the cause of much of her trouble. Some of the events that have kept her from having smooth sailing in her life DO seem to have been gratuitous gifts from an evil star, but more have come from her own disposition and her habit of finding trouble where better poised people would find smooth sailing.

She thinks her next-door neighbor is blessed of Providence in having a most serene and undisturbed life. She fails to recognize that much of that serenity is in the woman herself rather than in the conditions of her life; or rather, that it is that serenity of character which has helped to make the conditions serene.

"How I wish I didn't have to hurry so, but things seem to happen so that I'm always in a rush," is another woman's complaint. I wonder by the way what we should ever do without that long-suffering word "happen." This woman is one of those people who are always trying to do more than they possibly can, and, as an inevitable result is always vainly trying to catch up with herself.

She HAS to hurry, she says, and never realizes that her only task master is her own habit of trying to do too much. Of course she could eliminate enough from her life to make it normal, but on one could convince her of that. She thinks it is the force of circumstances that drives her on at that desperate pace, while really it is nothing but the force of temperament.

So, if you want to change the conditions and temper of your life, look within as well as without,—you will probably find quite as powerful causes in the one place as the other.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am a girl of 16 and have been going with a boy of 17. I love him very much and he says he loves me. Is it proper for him to kiss me goodnight and put his arm around me when we are out walking?

(2)—Are tan shoes much worn this winter? (3)—I have light hair, very curly and long. How can I wear it without having ribbons on it? (4)—I chum with a girl 17 years old. She is very short and I am rather tall. Some of the girls tell me we look funny together and for me to stop going with her. Please advise me what to do, for I hate to break friendship for such a poor excuse.

(5)—Is it proper for a boy to take a girl home from a picture show when he didn't take her there? (6)—Is it my place to introduce one boy friend to another? (7)—Is my writing good?

(1)—Tell him you are getting too big for that, my dear. You will soon be a young lady and have a very different idea of love from what you have now. (2)—Yes. (3)—Put it in two braids and coil it about your head. (4)—You are right—it would be a poor excuse. If you like each other, keep on being friends with her.

(5)—If she had no other escort, why not? (6)—Yes. (7)—Yes.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What kind and what color flower should be worn with a pale light blue silk evening dress?

Pink roses would be very pretty. Any pink or white, or even red flowers would be suitable.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—Where does Mr. Wilson, president-elect live? (2)—Is peroxide good for whitening the face? (3)—Are pimples caused by bad blood? (4)—Please give good recipe for fudge.

MARY L. (1)—Seagrit, N. J. (2)—It will whiten, but it will also make the skin hard and dead-looking. Better use buttermilk or lemon juice diluted. (3)—Very often. Eat well, keep the bowels working well, take plenty of baths and outdoor exercise, to get rid of the average case of pimples.

(4)—Fudge. 2 cups white sugar, 2 cup light brown sugar, 2 cups sweet milk, 1-4 teasp. cream of tartar. Mix and boil until it grains nicely, then add butter size of an egg. Take from fire, add vanilla flavor, stir as long as you can before putting in this (add nuts if you like).

If the creams are for immediate use, confectioner's sugar may be used with the white of an egg, but the real French "bonbon cream" is boiled.

Note All measurements level, unless otherwise stated.

Maple Puffs.

Material: Maple sugar, 1 lb.; light brown sugar, 1 c.; water, 1 c.; English walnuts (chopped), 1 c.; eggs, 1 c.; whites of eggs, 3; almond flavoring, 2 tsp.

Utensils: Granite stev pan, scales, measuring cup, measuring spoon, bowl, egg beater, food chopper, wooden spoon, paraffine paper. Directions—Put the sugar (maple and brown) into the stew pan with the water and boil until the syrup spins a heavy thread between the thumb and forefinger. Have the eggs beaten very stiff and then, very gradually add the syrup to the eggs, beating well all the time. When this mixture begins to stiffen add all the remaining ingredients and beat until it will stand alone. Then drop by teaspoonfuls on paraffine paper to harden. For the holiday candies the pre-

Proper utensils are quite necessary for this. An aluminum or granite saucepan holding about three quarts is a good size. A small flat brush for washing down the sides of the kettle or a stick, wrapped thickly at the end with cheesecloth, a wooden spoon when stirring is necessary, a spatula (or broad knife) and a small double boiler in which to melt the cream or chocolate. A confectioner's thermometer is most desirable, although if one makes candy often, and has much practice, the syrup can be tested with

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Dec. 30, 1872.—Dr. Lord on Darwin: Rev. Dr. Lord, of the university at Wooster, Ohio, gave a sermon at the Presbyterian church last evening, which is the subject of the most favorable comment. It was an exhaustive discourse in opposition to the theory of Darwin in regard to the rise of the human race. Dr. Lord based his argument on the Mosaic records and there are few among the large number present who have any faith in Darwinism, so completely did he sustain his points.

Congregational Sabbath School: The exercises of the Congregational Sabbath school yesterday were more than usually interesting. The superintendent, J. T. Wright, having previously declined re-election, and it being the last Sabbath of his administration, he occupied a large part of the hour in giving an interesting account and history and records covering fifteen years, of which he had charge. Brief Items: Our former townsman, W. B. Strong, the assistant general superintendent and general freight agent of the Burlington and Mississippi River railroad, has been appointed superintendent of the consolidated line of the Burlington and Missouri River, and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

BY WALT MASON

I've been sitting alone in my shack,
Re-reading the new almanac; and before
I began I seemed quite a sound man, but now I am hopeless, alas!
As strong as a government mule, I gambled around like a fool, with a spirit at ease, though I'm every day easing that is known at the medical school. To the night time I slept like a log; my appetite never missed a cog;
I was feeling so gay that I chorched
all day; now my soul is enveloped in fog.
For I find I haveague
SMYPTOMS and chills, and glanders and various ills; I must cut out the meat and the things

good to eat, and fill my old system with pills. In ailments I'm certainly lame, and my song has a heart rending pitch; I am sick in and out, with the measles and gout, and the mumps and the seven year itch. Bronchitis and quinsy are mine; when it comes to lumbago I shine; I have shingles and croup and I cough with a whoop;
and my stock of dyspepsia is fine. My liver is all out of whack, and my stomach keeps jumping the track;
and the book says the lung has been lost from my lung, and my kidneys are stuck to my back. How lucky it was that I found that almanac lying around! I might have supposed I was healthy, nor dosed my stomach with drugs by the pound.

Labor and Idleness.

labor and idleness: That labor is a profitable and pleasant trouble, idleness a trouble both unprofitable and comfortless.—Joseph Hall.

THE DAILY NOVELETTE

INTO THE RAIN
"The din made them deaf."
The sight made them blind;
The smoke made them long
For the pipe left behind.

Outside, the sheets of rain were coming down like blankets. All unaware that his father was pitifully ignorant of the matter which brooded his childish mind, young Belvidere Crickenthaler raised his head (ah, so like his poor divorced mother's!)
"Father," he said, "what is a transcendentalist?"

"What's that, my son?" cried Mr.
Crickenthaler hoarsely. "What's that?"

"What is a transcendentalist?" repeated young Belvidere. Little reck-ed he that his belief in his father's omniscience was in danger of being shattered forever.

"Belvidere," said Mr. Crickenthaler in a wild light in his eyes, "go down in the parlor and bring me up the cuckoo clock, and when you come up with it I will tell you what a transcendentalist is."

"Yes, papa," replied the dutiful child, and quietly left the room.

Hardly had the youthful figure disappeared when Mr. Crickenthaler put his dressing gown up around his ears and stole down the back stairs and out into the rain.

Not What She Meant.
The other evening at a simple social function, opened with a game of cards, the host caused quite a stir among the ladies present by announcing after the guests had seated themselves at the tables: "If everybody's made up, we'll start." Self consciously they looked at one another and involuntarily their hands went to their faces.

Lover's Unique Devotion.
An unusual manner in which a lover's devotion was shown occurred at Zurich, Switzerland, recently. A cobbler, whose sweetheart died, apprenticed himself to a stone-cutter in order to execute a fitting tribute to her memory, and after fourteen months he was able to carve a beautiful rose on a marble slab and write beneath: "Such was She." After it had been erected over her grave he returned to his first trade, and now repairs shoes as before.

CHAPTER VII.

Plans for Escape.

Desperate as he certainly felt their situation to be, for a moment or two Hamlin was unable to cast aside the influence of the girl, or concentrate his thoughts on some plan for escape. It may have been the gentle pressure of her hand upon his sleeve, but her voice continued to ring in his ears. He had never been a woman's man, nor was he specially interested in this woman beside him. He had seen her fairly, with his first appreciative glance, when he had climbed into the stage on the preceding day. He had realized there fully the charm of her face, the dark roguish eyes, the clear skin, the wealth of dark hair. Yet all this was impersonal; however pretty she might be, the fact was nothing to him and never could be. Knowing who she was, he comprehended instantly the social gulf stretching unbridged between them. An educated man himself, with family connections he had long ago ceased to discuss, he realized his present position more keenly than he otherwise might. He had enlisted in the army with no misunderstanding as to what a private's uniform meant. He had never heretofore supposed he regretted any loss in this respect, his nature apparently satisfied with the excitement of active frontier service, yet he vaguely knew there had been times when he longed for companionship with women of the class to which he had once belonged. Fortunately his border stations offered little temptation in this respect, and he had grown to believe that he had actually forgotten. That afternoon even—sweetly fair as Miss McDonald undoubtedly appeared—he had looked upon her without the throbs of a pulse, as he might upon a picture. She was not for him even to admire—she was Major McDonald's daughter, whom he had been sent to guard. That was all then.

Yet he knew that somehow it was different now—the personal element had entered unwelcomed, into the equation. Sitting there in the dark, Gonzales' body crumpled on the floor at his feet, and Moylean lying stiff and cold along the back seat, with this girl grasping his sleeve in trust, she remained no longer merely the Major's daughter—she had become herself. And she did not seem to care and did not seem to realize that there were barriers of rank, which under other circumstances must so utterly separate them. She liked him, and frankly told him so, not as she would dismiss an inferior with kindness, but as though he was an equal, as though he was a gentleman. Somehow the very tone of her voice, the clinging touch of her hand, sent the blood pumping through his veins. Something besides duty inspired him; he was no longer merely a soldier, but had suddenly become transformed into a man. Years of repression, of iron discipline, were blotted out, and he became even as his birthright made him. "Molly McDonald," "Molly McDonald," he whispered the name unconsciously to himself. Then his eyes caught the distant flicker of Indian fire, and his teeth locked savagely.

There was something else to be besides dream. Because the girl had spoken pleasantly was no reason why he should act the fool. Angry at himself, he gripped his faculties, and faced the situation, aroused, intent. He must save himself—and her! But how? What plan promised any possibility of success? He had their surroundings in a map before his eyes. His training had taught him to note and remember what others would as naturally neglect. He was a soldier of experience, a plainsman by long training, and even in the fierceness of the Indians' attack on the stage his quick glance had completely visualized their surroundings. He had not appreciated this at the time, but now the topography of the immediate re-trail, over which the runaway had crashed in full gallop. That surely could not be far back, and was of sufficient depth to hide them in the darkness. He was uncertain how far it extended, but at some time it had been a water-course and must have reached the river. And the river would hide their trail! A new hope sprang into his eyes. He felt the sudden straightening up of his body.

"What—what is it?" she questioned, startled. "Do you see anything? Are they coming?"

"No, no," almost impatiently. "It is still as death out there, but I almost believe I have discovered a means of escape. Do you remember a gully we ran over while I was on top of the stage?"

"I am not sure; was it when that awful jolt came?"

"Yes, it flung me to the foot-board just when I had untangled the lines. We could not have traveled a dozen yards farther before we struck this bluff—could we?"

"I hardly think so," yet evidently bewildered by his rapid questioning. "Only I was so confused and frightened I can scarcely remember. Why are you so anxious to know?"

"Because," he returned earnestly, bending toward her, "I believe that gash in the earth is going to get us out of here. Anyhow, it is the only chance I can figure. If we can creep through to the river, undiscovered, I'll agree to leave Mister Indian guessing as to where we've gone."

The new note of animation in the man's voice aroused her, but she grasped his arm tighter.

"But—but, oh, can we? Won't they be hiding there too?"

"It's a chance, that's all—but better than waiting here for a certainty. See here, Miss McDonald," and he caught her hand in his own, forgetful of all save his own purpose and the necessity of strengthening her to play out the game, "the trend of that gully is to the west; except up here close to the bluff it runs too far away for a guard line. The Indians will be lying out here on the open prairie; they will creep as close in as they dare under cover of darkness. I'll bet there are twenty red snakes now within a hundred feet of us—oh, don't shiver and lose your nerve! They'll not try to close that gap yet; it's too dangerous with us on guard and only one side of the coach exposed. That fellow was trying us out a while ago, and they've kept quiet ever since I let drive at him. They know the limits of the safety zone, and will keep there until just before daylight. That is when they'll try to creep up upon us. Have you got the time?"

She opened her watch, feeling for the hands with her fingers, wondering vaguely at her own calmness. The cool resourcefulness of Hamlin was like a tonic.

"It is a little after one o'clock," she said slowly, "although I am not sure my watch is exactly right."

"Near enough; there are signs of daylight at four—three hours left; that ought to be sufficient, but with no darkness to spare. Will you go with me? Will you do exactly as I say?"

She drew a swift breath, holding her hand to her side.

"Oh, yes," her voice catching, "what—what else can I do? I cannot stay here with those dead men!"

"But I want you to go because—well, because you trust me," he urged, a new trace of tenderness in his lowered voice. "Because you know I would give my life to defend you."

He was not sure, but he thought her face was suddenly uplifted, her eyes seeking to see him in the darkness.

"I do," she answered gravely, "you must believe I do; but I have never been in such peril before, in such a situation of horror, and I am all un-nerved. There doesn't seem to be anything left me but—to trust you."

"That is good; all I can ask. I know you are all right, but I want you to keep your nerve. We are going to take a big chance; we've got to do it—a single misstep, a slip of the foot, an incautious breath may cost our lives."

"Are you going to try to get away? To elude the Indians?"

"Yes, and there is but one possibility of success—to creep the length of the gully there, and so reach the river. Here is Gonzales' belt. Don't be afraid of it; it is not dead men who are going to hurt us. Swing the strap over your shoulder this way, and slip the revolver into the holster. That's right; we'll carry as little as we can, and leave our hands free."

He hesitated, staring about in the darkness, swiftly deciding what to take. "Do you happen to know if either of the passengers carried any grub?"

"Grub?"

"Plains' term for food," impatiently, "rations; something for lunch en route."

"Oh, yes, Mr. Moylean did; said he never took chances on having to go hungry. It was in a flat leather pouch."

"Haversack. I have it. That will be enough to carry, with the canteen. Now there is only one thing more before we leave. We must impress those fellows with the notion that we are wide-awake, and on guard yet. See any movement out there?"

"I am not sure," she answered doubtfully. "There is a black smudge beyond that dead pony; lean forward here and you can see what I mean—on the ground. I—I imagined it moved just then." She pointed into the darkness. "It is the merest shadow, but seemed to wiggle along, and then stop; it's still now."

Hamlin focussed his keen eyes on the spot indicated, shading them with one hand.

"Slide back further on the seat," he whispered softly, "and let me in next the window."

There was a moment's silence, the only sound the wind. The girl gripped the back of the seat nervously with both hands, holding her breath; the Sergeant, the outline of his face silhouetted against the sky, stared motionless into the night without. Suddenly, not making a sound, he lifted the rifle to his shoulder.

Have Color in Your Cheeks—Be Better Looking—Try Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—longer coated—appetite poor—bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

These Olive Tablets oil the bowels—yet have no oily taste. They are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil.

If you want a clear pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause. Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

"Every little Olive Tablet is a movement all its own." Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

DINNER STORIES

At a long row of seaside bathing-rooms, an important young man walked up to the door of one of the compartments, and knocking at the same, testily inquired: "When is thunder you going to get those trousers?" There was a faint giggle, and a sly voice replied: "When I get married, I suppose." The young man, fainting, he had mistaken the door.

Young Richleigh's father allowed him to take a trip to Europe last summer. Before starting, the youth made up a cable code of his own for possible use while abroad, and handed a copy to his father, who locked it up in his desk without looking at it.

A month later the elder Richleigh received a cable consisting of one word. "Laugh." He laughed. It seemed to be something quite pleasant. His code was at the house. He went up there in the best of humor. He got out the code and read: "Laugh—Send me five hundred dollars."

ORFORDVILLE FIREMEN GIVE A DANCING PARTY.

Delightful Social Event is Held on Friday Evening—Many Guests From Away.

Orfordville, Dec. 30.—The Volunteer Firemen of Orfordville were the hosts at a delightful dancing party Friday evening, at the opera house. The affair was the annual event given by the firemen, and is the dance anticipated by everyone and for which all other engagements are set aside as a consequence. These parties are always successful and Friday night's was no exception. Leaver's five piece orchestra furnished the music giving an hour's concert before the dance also. Many guests from out of town were present, among them being Mr. and Mrs. Schenck, Madison; Henry Osgard and Miss Anies, Stoughton; Dr. Wayne Olson and Miss Mooney, Edgerton; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lee and Mr. and Mrs. Knudson, Beloit; Miss Blum, and Miss Genevieve Ryan, Janesville, and Mr. and Mrs. Schuster, Minnesota.

Supper was served at midnight by ladies of the Beaver lodge. Home Sweet Home, was played at four a. m. E. Ruger Wiggins of Lincoln, Neb. is a holiday guest at the home of his father, Alex Wiggins.

Britten Betness is at home from Decorah, Iowa, for his vacation. Mrs. Fred Cole spent Christmas in Berwyn, Ill., with his sister, Mrs. Leng. The Heggard warehouse opens January 6th, with about forty assorters for the season's run.

Rev. J. A. Bergh arrived in the village today and will be the guest of K. N. Grunhurd, for a day or two. Miss Gertrude Hemingway of Hanover, was at the Firemen's dance.

Mrs. Olin Cox and daughters, are guests of Mrs. T. L. Barnum. Mrs. Sam Osgard entertained Mr. Sigurd Bothun and the Misses Bothun of Stoughton, over Friday.

SHE LOST HER HAIR.

But she found it again. That is the good part of the story. It cost her a lot of pride to lose it, and just a dollar to find it. You see, the dollar is the price of a bottle of Hall's Hair Renewer. No coloring of the hair. First of all, she talked it over with her doctor. This gave her confidence to go ahead.
